RAPID PROGRESS AT NIAGARA FALLS

Many Conferences Held at Washington City.

PLANS TO CARRANZA

Landing of Arms for Huerta Government at Puerto Mexico is Subject of Short Debate in Senate—Conditions.

Washington, May 28.—Conferences indicating rapid progress in mediation of the Mexican situation were held here today between President Wilson, Secretary Bryan and diplomatic officials. Information obtainable here reflected the news from Niagara Falls that evidences of a Mexican pacification plan had been agreed on and that some subjects still were under consideration before a protocol actually could be drafted.

Some government officials were so confident of ultimate peace that the reported landing of ammunition for Huerta from German ships at Puerto Mexico caused no uneasiness. One official said Huerta probably never would have need for the arms. Asked what he meant, he said it was because "everything looks so hopeful for peace."

Officials generally admit the basis of the mediation plan is for the establishment of a commission government comprising a provisional president and four cabinet ministers. To this government Huerta's power would be transferred pending an election.

It was admitted here tonight that the basic plan nas been communicated to Gen. Carranza.

It was reported that Carranza's representatives here had received word from him in response to exchanges relating to the progress of mediation thus far. It was asserted the Constitutionalist leader had not receded from his position that he would not consent to mediating Mexico's internal affairs. Some suggestions, however, were said to have come from the Constitutionalist chief which were regarded as encouraging. These, it was understood, would be communicated to the South American mediators.

Discuss Landing of Arms.

Of mediation developments, the reported landing of ammunition for Huerta from the German steamers Ypiranga and Bavaria at Puerto Mexico was discussed most. It generally was conceded that nothing could be done in the matter now and that the shipment could not have been stopped without violating the armistice.

"We did not expect the arms to be landed," said Secretary Bryan. He referred to an understanding said to have been had with officials of the Hamburg-American Line that the arms on the Bavaria and Ypiranga would be returned to the consignors on foreign shores. Considerable doubt seems to surround this understanding. Secretary Daniels said he had thought there had been some understanding. "I had taken it for granted," said the Secretary, "from some understanding that was reported to me that arms would not be landed."

No agreement between authorized representatives of the United States and the German government relating to this shipment of arms has been reported. At the German embassy it was pointed out that the German government had no authority to prevent the captain of a German merchant vessel from engaging in commerce of this character. The impression, therefore, left by the official statements, was that there certainly had been no formal agreement.

It is assumed that the steamship officers took statements recently emanating from Washington to the effect that all of the Mexican ports were open to mean they were relieved from any further withholding of cargo from such ports. From German sources comes the information that all of these arms and the ammunition supposed to be supplied by German factories, actually were made in the United States; shipped out of New York and Boston to Hamburg, and re-shipped from there to Mexico.

Short Debate in Senate.

In the Senate the landing of German implements of war at Puerto Mexico was the subject of short debate, started by Senator Reed.

"I do not mean to criticise the administration, but I cannot see why we could stop the landing of arms at Vera Cruz and not stop the landing at Puerto Mexico," declared Senator Poindexter. "The guns will shoot the same whether landed at Vera Cruz or Puerto Mexico."

Senator Lodge replied that the administration had announced officially this country was not at war with Mexico and hence so long as the United States was not actually in possession of a port, it could not object to the landing of imports there.

"There was no need for a German cruiser to convoy the German ship," added Senator Lodge.

Reports that plans were under consideration for withdrawing troops from Vera Cruz were denied today by officials close to the President. It was indicated that the plan is to keep troops at Vera Cruz until the Mexican problem has been settled definitely.

Secretary Bryan conferred with agents of the Constitutionalists and late in the day he saw the Spanish ambassador, who called in the interest of Spanish citizens in Mexico. Expulsion of the Spaniards from Torreon and threats before the taking of Saltillo are subjects still under consideration.

Excellent order is being maintained in Tampico and work gradually is being resumed in the oil fields, according to a cablegram to the Navy Department tonight from Rear Admiral Badger.

MERCHANT MARINE IS GREATEST NEED

Trade Convention Delegates Visit White House.

WILSON IS INTERESTED

President Told Callers That Merchant Marine for the United States is One of the Chief Needs of Present Time.

Washington, May 28.—President Wilson told delegates to the National Foreign Trade convention who called at the White House today that one of the chief needs of the United States was a merchant marine.

"There is nothing in which I am more interested than the fullest development of the trade of this country and its righteous conquest of foreign markets," said he. "I think you will realize from what Secretary Redfield has said to you that it is one of the things that we hold nearest to our hearts, that the government and you should co-operate in the most intimate manner in accomplishing our common object.

"I am sure that I speak the conviction of all of you when I say that one of our chief needs is to have a merchant marine, because if we have to deliver our goods in other people's delivery wagons their goods are delivered first and ours are delivered incidentally on their routes. This is a matter I have had near my own heart for a great many years."

Alvah H. Johnson, of Philadelphia, president of the National Foreign Trade convention, in reply to the President's address said the American Manufacturers' association, the Panamaian society and the American Asiatic association had determined that the present was "peculiarly the time to inaugurate a forward movement for the export business of the United States."

Tariff Works Both Ways.

"The completion of the Panama canal," he continued, "the resultant rearrangement of trade relationships, the enactment of the tariff, which we believe will open a door outward for our exports to the same extent that it opens inward for the imports of foreign countries, and the fact that we soon must look to our exports of manufactures to adjust the great financial balances between us and othr nations, rather than the exportation of foodstuffs—make the time ripe for this forward movement."

John R. Gardin, vice president of the National City Bank of New York, told the convention today that President Wilson's administration had given the country two things of which it might be proud—the tariff and the currency law.

"The Federal Reserve law is the one bright spot we have to look forward to at this moment," said he. "It is to relieve us from the bondage in which we have been for 50 years. I consider that release just as great as the emancipation of the slaves. The reserve law favors foreign more than domestic commerce."

WILSON REASSURES THE BUSINESS WORLD

Administration Will Proceed Moderately and Soberly.

With Business Reform Legislation—Believes Country Demands Just Such Action as Government is Taking.

Washington, May 28.—President Wilson, through a statement issued at the White House today, again assured the business world that the administration would proceed "moderately and soberly" in its programme of business reform legislation. The statement was occasioned by the visit of a delegation of Illinois business men, who asked the President that all legislation affecting business except the trade commission be withheld until a trade commission could look thoroughly into the business situation.

"The President said in reply to the Illinois delegation," says the statement, "that in his judgment nothing was more dangerous for business than uncertainty, that it had become evident through a long series of years that a policy such as the Democratic party was now pursuing was absolutely necessary to satisfy the conscience of the country, and its perception of the prevailing conditions of business; and that it was a great deal better to do the thing moderately and soberly now, than to wait until more radical forces had accumulated and it was necessary to go much further.

The President also said that while he was aware of the present depression of business, there was abundant evidence that it was merely phychological; that there is no material condition or substantial reason why the business of the country should not be in the most prosperous and expanding condition. He urged upon his visitors the necessity of patriotic co-operation on the part of the business men of the country, in order to support rather than to oppose the moderate

FEAR IS FELT FOR MISSING STEAMER

F. J. Luckenback, Sailing from Tampa to Baltimore

TWENTY-NINE IN CREW

Missing Since the Fifteenth, Government Wireless Stations Ask Vessels All Along Coast to Aid in the Search for Her.

Norfolk, Va., May 28.—Seeking news of the steamer F. J. Luckenbach, missing since May 15th, wireless stations all along the Atlantic coast tonight sent out calls to ships at sea asking them to search for the missing vessel.

The government wireless station here was in communication with stations as far South as Key West, and with several vessels at esa, but nothing had been heard of the Luckenbach.

The Luckenbach was built in 1886. She was formerly the Spanish steamer Eukaro, and the British steamer Marie. She had a net tonnage of 2,565.

Carried 29 in Crew.

Charleston, S. C., May 28.—Wireless stations all along the Atlanti coast tonight flashed forth calls to ships at sea seeking news of the American steamer F. J. Luckenbach, which is missing with its crew of 29 men. No information had been received up to late tonight.

The American steamer Shawmut, which was in port a Philadelphia today from Jacksonville, Fla., reported that it had seen a great quantity of wreckage off the South Carolina coast, which was believed to be from the missing ship. No news has been received here tending to confirm a disaster to the Luckenbach.

The vessel left Tampa on May 15th, for Baltimore, and was due there May 21st. No storms have been reported off the South Carolina coast. Shipping men are inclined to believe that if anything has happened to the vessel it has been due to a breakdown in the ship's machinery.

Phosphate composed the cargo of the Luckenbach, and it did not have deck loads of any kind, and had no lumber board, according to reports here. The wreckage reported by the Shawmut consisted of a large quantity of lumber, moulding and a canvas-covered hatch cover painted yellow.

Sister Ship at Tampa.

Tampa, Fla., May 28.—Captain McGahan, commanding the American steamer D. N. Luckenbach, now in port here, and who formerly was in charge of the F. J. Luckenbach, said tonight that up until a year ago the hatches of the latter ship were painted brown. He did not know whether they had been changed.

"If anything has happened to the F. J. Luckenbach, there is not likely to be much wrekage floating around," he said. "The Luckenbach boats are pretty solid about the deck, with no deck cargoes, and with the exception of a few life boats or rafts."

Fear Accident Happened.

New York, May 28.—The steamship Luckenbach, a vessel of nearly 3,000 tons, and carrying a crew of 29, has

INCREASE CAPACITY OF GOVERNMENT MILL

Amendment to Make Larger Powder Plant.

General Attack Made Upon Dupont Powder Company During Debate —Increase Naval Appropriation $500,000.

Washington, May 28.—Increase in the capacity of the government powder factory at Indian Head, Md., so that all smokeless powder used by the navy in times of peace may be manufactured there, would be provided in an amendment to the Naval Appropriation bill adopted today by the Senate.

In the debate a general attack was made on the Dupont Powder company.

Members of the Naval committee advocating the amendment, which would appropriate $500,000 explained the government did not intend to manufacture all its powder, but it needed a plant big enough to make it independent of the Dupont company. Senator Hughes contended that the amendment meant the driving from business of private capital.

Senator LaFollette read from a published article which charged that after a superior powder had been developed through the aid of government officers, the "trust" then sold it to foreign governments.

Senator Warren, of Wyoming, declared the Dupont company deserved commendation for many acts; that it voluntarily submitted to Secretary Daniels its contracts for powder in Mexico and "cancelled them on the secretary's merest suggestion."

Senator Reed suggested that "any man who sells powder to a foreign nation with whom we are at war is likely to be executed for treason."

Greensboro, N. C., May 28. — Rain this afternoon, the first in five weeks, brought but slight relief from the heat wave in this town and Piedmont section of North Carolina.

The official thermometer here today registered 99 degrees, one degree hotter than yesterday.

MEDIATORS' PLANS ARE NOW COMPLETE

Major Issues Before Wilson and Huerta

FOR THEIR APPROVAL

When This Is Obtained Secondary Matters Will be Taken Up, a Protocol Will be Signed and Conference Ended.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 28.—Plans for the pacification of Mexico through mediation virtually have been completed.

The major issues are before President Wilson and General Huerta for approval and when this is obtained secondary questions will be taken up. A proctocol covering the basic principles will be signed, the mediation conference will close, delegates will return to their homes and the mediators will complete details of the undertaking in conjunction with the authorities at Washington and Mexico City.

This work may require several months. It is expected that the responsibility for dealing with the Constitutionalist element will be thrown upon the United States.

Among the points still to be disposed of are believed to be the selection of persons to comprise the new provisional government and the exact manner by which it will taffe office in succession to the Huerta regime.

Mediators and delegates today said a protocol probably would be signed within a week.

Just how the transition from the present administration fo a new provisional government can be effected is being given close attention. The intent of the American delegates is understoood to b ethat the new provisional executive shall not appear to have been chosen by Huerta. If the Mexican constitution be followed literally it is necessary that the office of minister of foreign affairs, now vacant, shall be filled by the individual to whom the mediation conference expects General Huerta to turn over the reins of government.

The constitution provides that in case of vacancy in the office of President, the minister of foreign affairs shall succeed to the position. The American delegates recognize that an irregular method of choosing a provisional President might evoke opposition.

Commission of Five.

The American government wishes the Huerta government to give way to a commission of five, or possibly three. The Mexican delegates hold a commission would be unpopular because the people might resent it as of foreign suggestion. They urge that a minister of foreign affairs automatically succeed General Huerta.

This successor then could name as cabinet members those persons who already had been agreed upon here. Such an arrangement might be con-

PROVISION AGAINST EXCLUSIVE AGENCIES

And Price Discrimination Perfected in House.

In the Consideration of the Clayton Bill to Supplement the Anti-Trust Laws—Scores of Amendments Voted Down.

Washington, May 28.—Provisions aimed against price discrimination and against exclusive agency contracts were perfected by the House today in the consideration of the Clayton bill to supplement the Anti-Trust laws.

Scores of amendments designed to alter the measure as framed by the Judiciary committee, were voted down. Three of the twenty-two sections of the bill were agreed to during the day's debate.

The first section of the bill, dealing with terms and definitions, was passed without objection. The second, forbidding price-discrimination between purchasers of the same commodities in the same or different communities, was attacked by Representative Graham, of Pennsylvania, who offered several amendments. All were defeated.

The section making it unlawful for persons controlling mines or mine products to refuse to sell responsible persons, after being amended so as to apply to oil and gas wells, was passed over to allow the Judiciary committee to perfect the new provision.

The principal contest of the day was over the fourth section, making it unlawful for wholesalers to lease or sell goods with a condition that the purchasers shall not deal in the goods of a competitor.

Representative McCoy, of New Jersey, tried unsuccessfully to limit the prohibition to such understandings as are made "with the intent of establishing a monopoly or destroying the business of a competitor."

Washington, D. C., May 28.—The President sent to the Senate today the nomination of S. W. Smith to be postmaster at Wilson.

No further delay is expected and his confirmation will be made quickly.

(By J. A. Livingstone.)

Fayetteville, N. C., May 28.—Scotch folk of all names and clans from the Cape Fear country and elsewhere gathered here today to attend the fifth annual meeting of the Scottish Society of America which was featured by a striking address by the president of the society, Dr. James A. Macdonald, of Toronto, Canada, the distinguished editor of the Toronto Globe. Indicative of the interest that the people of the State have in the society, Governor Locke Craig with his staff was present and made an address this afternoon in which he warmly eulogized the loyal Scotch for their devotion and patriotism.

As a fitting memorial to Lady Flora MacDonald, who spent five years of her eventful life in the town of Cross Creek as Fayetteville was once called, Dr. Macdonald, in his address suggested that the name of the Southern Presbyterian College at Red Springs be changed to "Flora MacDonald College," and offered to give $10,000 to endow the institution, provided the trustees would raise $100,000. He also stated that he would secure an additional $5,000 from his friends in Canada, if his suggestion was favorably acted upon by the board of trustees of the college. It is understood that the trustees will give the matter serious consideration.

The exercises of the day began with a parade at 12:30 o'clock from the depot to the opera house where the meeting of the society was held. Following the address of welcome by Mayor James D. McNeill and the response by Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure, of Wilmington, Dr. Macdonald made his address. The meeting then adjourned for dinner. This afternoon after the address by Governor Craig a business meeting was held and officers for the ensuing year elected. The exercises closed tonight with a public reception to Governor Craig and his staff and other visiting guests at the parlors of the Elks' Home on Green street.

FAVOR NATIONAL PROHIBITION LAW

Southern Presbyterians Adopt Resolution.

AT CLOSING SESSION

Northern General Assembly Adopts Resolution Favoring a Federal Law on Divorce—Revive Family Worship.

Kansas City, May 28.—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States (Southern) at its final session today voted to raise the standard of its colleges in the South. The assembly adjourned to meet May 20th, 1915, at Newport News, Va.

It was decided that hereafter each school must have an endowment of at least $100,000 and an annual income of $12,000. The commissioners emphasized their desire to strengthen the church schools.

To aid in creating a revival of family worship, the commissioners adopted a report urging members to more general installation of family altars. Members also were urged to aid in increasing the salaries of pastors.

During the discussions that preceded the adoption of a resolution favoring National prohibition, a number of commissioners declared the assembly should avoid such an endorsement as political.

Dr. J. S. Lyons, of Louisville, Ky., retiring moderator, said the Presbyterian church was historically against taking part in specific political action. After the resolution had been adopted a communication signed by 20 commissioners was filed protesting against the action.

The assembly adopted the resolution presented to it for action by the Women's Christian Temperance Union as follows:

"Resolved, That we are in favor of National constitutional prohibition and we will do all in our power to secure the adoption of an amendment to the Constitutional forever prohibiting the sale, manufacture for sale, transportation for sale, importation for sale and exportation for sale, or sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes in the United States."

Federal Law on Divorce.

Chicago, May 28.—Members of the 126th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., (Northern) today went on record as favoring a Federal law on divorce.

The subject came before the body in a supplemental report of the committee on marriage and divorce, presented by Chairman John Timothy Stone, who asked to have the paragraphs recommending amendments to State divorce laws referred back to the committee with instructions to report within a year.

Dr. A. M. Fells, of Cairo, Ill., objected to delay and introduced a resolution favoring a Federal divorce law, saying:

"We are all aware of the distressing situation which has resulted from the existing inadequate divorce laws of the different States. I believe the only solution of the problem is a Federal law. This great church should go on

LINDSEY TELLS OF COLORADO STRIKE

Before Federal Commission on Industrial Relations.

HEARING IN NEW YORK

Judge Ben B. Lindsey Declares Colorado is Owned by Corporations. Other Witnesses Are Heard on Subject.

New York, May 28.—Federal troops could now be withdrawn from Colorado without danger, according to testimony given today by Major Edward J. Boughton, judge advocate of the Colorado military district, before the Federal Commission on Industrial Relations, in session here.

Major Boughton said he had been sent by Governor Ammons, and by his own commanding officer of the Calarado National Guard to enlighten public opinion, "which has been inflamed by press reports."

He was chairman of the military commission appointed by Governor Ammons to investigate the conduct of the National Guard at Ludlow.

The witness said it was his opinion that the mine owners had yielded to the strikers in every demand except the recognition of the Union; that the mine workers had received fair treatment at the hands of their employers.

Major Boughton admitted that since he had been in New York he had been in conference at 26 Broadway, Standard Oil offices and that he had not seen any representatives of the mine workers in this city. Attempts were made by A. B. Garretson, of the commission, to show that Maj. Boughton favored the mining interests and had not concerned himself sufficiently with the other elements in the dispute.

The witness in giving a narrative of the Ludlow incident, in some cases excused the National Guard and in others, such as the setting fire to tents and the treatment of one of the Greek strike leaders, affirmed that the actions of the militia were inexcusable.

"It is true, is it?" queried Mr. Garretson, "that public opinion in Colorado has looked upon the National Guard as a body thoroughly in sympathy with the mine owners?"

"That has been the unfortunate opinion in Colorado," answere Maj. Boughton, "and it has been the chief cause of this whole calamity."

Maj. Boughton refused to be drawn into an argument over the merits of the cause of the mine workers or to criticise the findings of other investigators.

"Was it not felt by the people of Colorado that your investigating commission was appointed with the purpose of covering up some of the actions during the strike?" he was asked.

"No," he said.

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, one of the members of the commission, asked him if he thought peaceful conditions would ever be possible while the only representatives of law were the mine guards, who were in the employ of the company?"

"Not while there is a strike," said Maj. Boughton.

Judge Lindsey Interrupts.

Maj. Boughton had hardly left the stand when Judge Ben B. Lindsey, who came to New York in the hope of discussing the strike situation with John D. Rockefeller, Jr., jumped to his feet and declared that a great many statements made by witnesses were entirely false.

Judge Lindsey was thereupon asked to take the stand.

"The situation in Colorado is now bigger than a strike," he said. "The outbreak there is merely a local symptom of wider disorder."

Judge Lindsey said 500 children in Colorado coal mines had been made orphans by explosions that resulted from carelessness and failure to install ordinary safety appliances.

He recited a number of incidents which he said had led inevitably to the final protest of the mine workers and exclaimed:

"There are no more lawless public corporations in the country than in Colorado."

"Colorado," he added, "has perfected the science of corporating men. Its judges, its Supreme Court judges, are owned like office boys. Its lawyers, its business men, all are owned.

"There are, of course, fearless men, but they have paid a heavy sacrifice for their fearlessness."

Discussion at Washington.

Washington, May 28.—The Colorado strike situation was discussed informally today by President Wilson and Dr. Dumba, the embassador from Austria-Hungary. Many miners in the Colorado strike district are Austrians.

Two Austrians were killed in the firing at Ludlow. It is understood claims for compensation will be presented on behalf of the families of dead miners and also for other Austrians who say they were robbed during the disturbances.

Event at Newbern Proving a Gratifying Success.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Newbern, N. C., May 28.—The second day of the big Home-Coming celebration was even more of a success than the first, and the attendance at the events had at the fair grounds today was most gratifying.

Another sensational event was a race between an aeroplane and an automobile. In this, the former was the victor.

Saturday is Bryan Day, and between seven and ten thousand visitors are expected to be present. Secretary Bryan and Senator Simmons will arrive at 9 o'clock that morning, and the address will be made shortly afterward.

Indianapolis, May 28.—Thirty automobiles hummed around the Indianapolis motor speedway today in their final practice spins in preparations for the annual 500-mile race Saturday.

The United States, Great Britain, France, Germany and Belgium will be represented and the drivers will include the pick of the racing pilots of the world.

The speed trials ended last night. As a whole the foreigners averaged faster than the American cars, but whether they will be able to hold up under the strain of a 500-mile race remains to be seen. The fastest car, according to the elimination trials, is the French entry driven by Boillot, which made a lap at the rate of a fraction less than 100 miles an hour.

OUIMET IS AMATEUR GOLF CHAMPION OF FRANCE.

Won Title by Defeating Another American, Henry J. Topping.

Versailles, May 28.—Francis Ouimet, American open golf champion, became amateur champion of France today by defeating Henry J. Topping, of the Greenwich Country Club, Connecticut, by four up and three to play in the final round of 36 holes.

Although the expected happened in the victory of Ouimet, it was not until the end of the morning round that the American open champion obtained a satisfactory advantage over Topping. At the turn in the afternoon round the game appeared almost at an end, but Topping revived and made remarkable approach shots. They came too late, however, except to postpone his defeat for two holes.

THOROUGHFARE BAY WORK.

Board of U. S. Engineers Disapproves of Project for Present.

The Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, Southern Building, Washington, D. C., is spending out public notices to the effect that the board is not convinced of the advisability of the United States undertaking the improvement of Thoroughfare Bay, N. C., from Core Sound to Cedar Bay, near the mouth of Neuse river, Pamlico Sound, which was given a favorable report by the district engineer, the circular setting forth these reasons.

However, all parties interested in the proposed improvement are invited to submit within a period of 30 days, statements and arguments bearing upon the necessity for the improvement in the interest of commerce and navigation. Should a hearing be desired, this can be arranged by correspondence with the Board of Engineers, Washington, D. C.

A DAILY HOME RUN

JOHN J. McCLOSKEY.
Former Manager, St. Louis Cardinals.

Signs in baseball may be sprung in many different ways. Movements of the fingers or the hands and feet are much in vogue, and very often signals are given by coaches who use a phrase that tips off the batter and base runner to try a certain play. Jack Murray tells a funny one about John J. McCloskey, when John was manager of the St. Louis Cardinal team.

"I was at bat one day," Murray relates, "with a runner on first and McCloskey coaching there. He rattled off a line of talk, and suddenly the base runner started for second and was caught a mile. McCloskey came in fuming and nailed me. 'You bonehead! Whatinell do you mean? Don't you know the signs?' he hissed.

"'I didn't hear you give me any sign,' I replied."

"'Well, didn't you hear me when I said "Now watch Red Leary, the Northampton bank robber, kiss one on the seam?" he said; "that's our hit and run signal. Whenever the coacher yells "Red Leary, the bank robber!" hit the ball, for the runner is going to steal'."

"I assured him I would remember," concluded Jack.

Convention at Winston Unusually Well Attended

Louis Goodman, of Wilmington, Elected Second Vice President—W. P. Beardsly, of Charlotte, President—Fine Parade.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Winston-Salem, N. C., May 28.—The State Association of B. P. O. Elks closed its convention here this afternoon, having had the largest attendance for several years. Business sessions were trimmed of details and dispatched rapidly to participate in the royal entertainment program. The convention was one continuous round of pleasing features.

The following officers were elected: President, W. P. Beardsley, of Charlotte; first vice president, Arthur Lyon, of High Point; second vice president, Louis Goodman, of Wilmington; secretary and treasurer, Mr. T. B. Kehoe, of Newbern.

Charlotte was selected as next place of meeting over Raleigh and Asheville, who withdrew in favor of the Queen City.

A magnificent pageant was the parade last night. High Point won the Newbern trophy with a gentlemanly uniformed delegation of probably a hundred and fifty in line of march. Raleigh was awarded the Winston-Salem trophy, or second award. The judges declared Newbern scored highest in appearance in parade, but was lacking in attendance.

The Grand Lodge meets at Denver, Colo., July 12. Retiring exalted rulers of each of the seventeen lodges in the State are delegates and North Carolina will be fully represented.

COLUMBUS NOMINEES ARE ASKED TO RESIGN

By County Executive Committee in Called Meeting.

Held to Consider Grievances of Those Charging Irregularities on Part of Returning Board—J. A. Brown Re-elected.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Whiteville, N. C., May 28.—What old-line Democrats agree to have been the warmest session of the Democratic Executive committee ever held south of the Mason and Dixon line was the extraordinary call meeting of the executive committee of the Democratic party held in the Columbus court house here today. This fact alone stands pre-eminently above the numerous dissensions and varied ideas of the twelve members of the new executive committee from as many townships in Columbus.

The session was held in response to a call from County Chairman Joseph A. Brown for the purpose of considering the grievances of a number of citizens of Chadbourn, in this county, with particular reference to the nomination of Hon. J. R. Williamson for representative from Columbus county in the next General Assembly.

Espousing the claims of the Chadbourn delegation and appearing as paid counsel for K. D. Hardee and others related to the political interests and aspirations of Dr. S. M. Withers was young Woodberry Lennon, Esq., a member of the Robeson bar.

Information leaked out that he had in his possession affidavits from numerous voters setting forth irregularities in the holding of the primary in this county on the 12th instant and of other illegalities in the meeting of the returning board held on the 14th instant, two days later. These were not, however, introduced but he did read to the returning board reassembled a petition of some length alleging irregularities and illegalities in the primary and actions of the returning board and praying the committee to order another primary.

This brought forth argument pro and con from prominent political leaders and advocates of both candidates and platforms and at 3:30 an unharmonious and promising to be perilous session of Columbus county Democrats adjourned subject to the call of the chairman, after passing by a vote of 10 to 2, the following resolution offered by G. Herbert Smith:

"Resolved, That those candidates who were declared nominees by the returning board on the 14th instant, be requested to send in their resignations to the Democratic Executive committee and that the chairman of the Democratic Executive committee, Mr. J. A. Brown, be authorized to take legal advice as to whether to secure a mandamus compelling the executive committee to order a new primary or to call the executive committee together again for that purpose in the event that he is legally advised that a mandamus is not necessary."

Prior to going into the object of the session Mr. Brown was re-elected chairman and in a short address of thanks and appreciation, coupled with a desire to have harmony reign supreme in the ranks of the party, he said, "God grant that I may use that influence as leader of the Democrats in this county to further the best interests of the party." R. C. Powell was re-elected secretary of the executive committee.

WANTS COLLEGE NAMED FOR FLORA MACDONALD

Fayetteville; D. P. McEachern, Red Springs. The time and place of the next meeting was left to the executive committee.

City in Gala Attire.

In honor of her distinguished visitors and the several thousand Scotchmen, the city today put on gala attire. The Scotch plaid was everywhere and the red and gold of old Scotia was much in evidence. While it was impossible for all the visitors to find seats in the large auditorium where the exercises of the day were held, it was by no means a dull day for the ties that bind the Gods blessed Macs together served to make all friends and here and there could be seen groups gathered together recalling incidents of other days.

The parade formed at the railroad station shortly after 12 o'clock and led by a band in a brand new fire wagon followed by the Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry and Co. F, of the National Guard next came the Governor and his staff and the speaker of the day in automobiles. Then came the procession of citizens, the whole making a most impressive sight.

Visitors Welcomed.

The exercises of the day were opened with prayer by Dr. McClure, the chaplain of the society. After music by the Scotch Lassie String Quartette, Mayor McNeill in the name of the 29 different Macs to be found in this section welcomed the visitors to all that was in the city. He declared it one of the rarest privileges of his life to be present on this occasion.

The response was made by Dr. McClure, who spoke briefly of the magnificent part that Scotchmen have played in American history. The Scotch were the first to sign an American Declaration of Independence, this being on May 16, 1771, and it was they that gave Bunker Hill its place in American history. It was a Scotchman, he said, that wrote the Declaration of Independence, and it was also one of the same race who was first to read it in public. Fifteen of the 25 Presidents of the United States have been of Scotch descent. In behalf of the visitors he assured Mayor McNeill that they appreciated the hearty welcome extended them.

The orator of the day was introduced in a short address by Col. C. W. Broadfoot, the dean of the Fayetteville bar. He called attention to the fact that wherever the Scotch have gone they have kept step in making progress. It was significant that in every community in which they had settled they first built a church and a school house next. He was proud to have the privilege of introducing a descendant of Flora MacDonald, an editor, a scholar of distinction and a leader of his party. The people of this section, said he, were made glad when they learned that he would come down the second time to make an address. "He is a Scotchman every inch—and they are broad inches—and when that is said, there is nothing more to say," he stated in conclusion.

Dr. Macdonald Speaks.

Dr. Macdonald made an urgent plea for a closer unity between the United States and Canada. It is significant, he said, that although there are 4,000 miles of border line between the two countries that there is not a gun, not a soldier, not a battleship, not a fort, in all that distance. He pointed out that the two flags that hung over the stage, the Canadian and the Stars and Stripes, both had the same colors, red, white and blue.

In conclusion he urged that a suitable memorial be erected to Flora MacDonald, that famous Scottish heroine. He urged that the people of Fayetteville should built a suitable statue to her memory. When he suggested that the name of the Southern Presbyterian College at Red Springs should be changed to Flora MacDonald College somebody in the audience hinted that it would be a good idea to have the college at Fayetteville. Dr. Macdonald said that he was opposed to this because it had been his experience that the State was more and more taking over the schools and that it was extremely hard to keep private or church schools going. While it would be easy to raise the initial money, he said, the problem of maintenance would come up and he thought that with a plant already established that it would be a good idea to devote attention to securing an endowment for that institution instead of launching out into new fields.

Is No Tory.

In recalling the history of the Tories in North Carolina and the prominent part that the Scotch had played in their ranks, he said: "Call me a Liberal, a radical, a Democrat, or whatever you will, but don't call me Tory." It was then that the vast audience cheered as they had not cheered before for it indicated the spirit of the man. It was a notable address delivered by a notable man and made a deep impression.

When Mayor McNeill led the ovation for Governor Craig just prior to the address, the vast audience rose en masse and gave three cheers for North Carolina's Governor, who is also a Scotchman and today wore proudly the Tartan of a Stuart.

Dr. Macdonald was also warmly greeted, and whenever he appeared upon the platform during the exercises of the day, it was always the signal for applause.

Scottish Music.

The Scottish Lassie string quartette composed of Misses Annie Johnson, Alison Pearsall, Dickson Vardell and Louise Dixon with Miss Margaret Dixon as accompanist, all of Red Springs Southern Presbyterian College, played a sweet Scotch medley on violins that brought down the house. When in response to an encore they came back and played the familiar strains of Dixie, there was an outburst of applause that shook the very rafters. A quartette composed of Misses Flora Ray, Lucy Worth Currie, Maude MacRae and Mrs. W. L. Snipes sang "Annie Laurie."

Following the exercises at the auditorium the members of the Scottish Society and their friends repaired to the armory where a feast of good things to eat had been provided by the good ladies of the city by the Cape Fear. There were 500 or more who partook of their bountiful hospitality.

Shortly after 3 o'clock the afternoon session opened with the singing of "My Ain Countrie"—harmonized by Mrs. Linda Vardell and dedicated to the Scottish Society of America which was rendered by Mrs. E. H. Williamson, Miss Margaret John, Miss Kate McArthur and Miss Margaret Cotton. The song and music was adopted by the society as its official hymn.

Governor Craig Speaks.

Governor Locke Craig was introduced to the audience by John G. Shaw, Esq., of this city. He was warmly greeted and although his address was short, he nevertheless made one of his characteristic eloquent talks. He recalled with evident deep pride his Scotch ancestry and spoke of his pleasure in being in Fayetteville on this eventful occasion. He endorsed the suggestion of Dr. Macdonald that a suitable statue be erected here to the memory of Flora Macdonald and declared that the address by the distinguished visitor had been the best that he had heard in a long while.

The Hard Headed Scotch.

The most notable characteristic of the Scots, said the Governor, is that he is a hard headed man, always loyal to his cause and willing to stand by it and to die for it, if necessary. And nowhere do the pages of history contain any mention of where he has ever given up, he declared.

In eloquent words he depicted various events from English history where battles have been fought and there always were Scotchmen to be found. And in peace the traditions of the Scotch have a prominent part for the ballads of Scotia's hills have had a profound influence upon the lives of men, he said. Nowhere in literature could he recall a song more expressive than that of "Auld-Lang Syne."

Declaring that he was not discussing the matter in any partisan sense he traced the history of reconstruction days and gave it as his opinion that the greatest sentence that he had ever heard was uttered by Vance when he said in speaking of those that had plundered this fair land that the time would come when it would be more tolerable for Sodom and Gomorrah in the judgment than them.

For 40 years the South had no part in National politics, he said, and although Mr. Taft invited the South to surrender her ideals and loyalty and come back to Washington she had refused to accept his terms.

"But the South has come back into the nation and today she has a Scotchman in the highest place in the land," the Governor said. President Wilson was not elected because he was a Southern man or because he was a Scotchman, but because he has always stood for high ideals and high principles. He spoke of the splendid work that is being done by Secretary of the Navy Daniels, Senator Simmons and other North Carolinians.

Before the opening of the business session when officers were elected and a number of those present made short talks, Mr. A. D. McGill, a native Scotchman, gave an oration in dialect.

Dr. Macdonald's Address.

After expressing his appreciation of the warm welcome that had been accorded him and of the high honor that had been conferred upon him in being elected president of the Scottish Society of America at the last annual meeting, Dr. Macdonald gave an interesting account of his paternal ancestor, John Macdonald, who after the battle of Culloden in 1746 settled in the great Gaelic-speaking community along the Cape Fear. The speaker told of how he and his three sons gathered from all the Scottish counties and rallied to the Royal standard erected in the town of Fayetteville on February 18, 1776. In eloquent words of description the speaker pictured the scene.

"On that day, in the town square, those ancestors of mine, with hundreds of other clansmen, and with nearly three thousand Highland veterans and recruits—Macdonalds, Macleods, Macleans, Mackenzies, Mackays, Maclachlans and many other Macs and Camerons and Campbells and other sons of the Scottish Gael—they all answered with their Highland hearts to Flora Macdonald's impassioned words, exhorting them by all that was leal in their blood and noble in the history of their clans to stand in America for their Sovereign, King George of the House of Hanover, as in Scotland they and their fathers had stood and suffered for their beloved Prince Charles of the House of Stuart.

A Memorable Scene.

"That scene comes back today. It is bright with all the color and dark with all the tragedy of the tartan. Out they marched, clan after clan, in swinging kilts, some with feather bonnets, and some, like my own old ancestor, carrying the heavy broadswords they carried in Culloden Moor. Yonder beyond the creek, a gunshot from where we now meet, under a great oak tree, beside her little white pony, stood the immortal Scottish heroine. No braver or more loyal heart ever throbbed under a tartan plaid. With a courage that knew no fear, Flora Macdonald cheered name after name as the clans marched past, and put iron and fire into their blood with the steadying slogan of all the clans: 'Sons of the Gael, shoulders together.'

The Men Who Fall.

"Tell me they failed—those men of the clans who that day marched out so gallantly to die!

"And what is our failure here but a triumph's evidence
For the fullness of the day?"

Tell me their cause was lost! But who can tell what, in the long reaches of history, will prove to be loss and what to be gain? They said the Prince lost on Culloden Moor. But in the deep damnations of history the name of the Duke of Cumberland has rotted into oblivion, while, in songs and sentiments the world will not let die, the name of Bonnie Charlie lives forever. They say, too, that the cause of the South was lost, but who among you would change your Southern blood or Southern background for anything the triumphant North could

BUILDER'S EXCHANGE IN ASHEVILLE NEXT

Semi-Annual Meeting in Durham Next January.

Convention in Charlotte Appoints Committee to Confer With State Association of Architects as to Change in Rules.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Charlotte, N. C., May 28.—The North Carolina Builders' Exchange this afternoon selected Durham as its semi-annual meeting place for January 15th, and chose Asheville as its meeting place next June.

The Exchange appointed a committee to confer with the State Association of Architects in Asheville next June to urge that body to grant more power in preparing plans and specifications for buildings to general contractors, so as to prevent the delay often occasioned by a sub-contractor, as a plumber or lighting contractor, in finishing his part of the work.

MAKE EFFORT TO KEEP TOLLS BEFORE SENATE

Simmons and Other Leaders Rush Legislation.

Want Early Vote on Repeal Bill and All Amendments and Substitutes Now Before That Body. Three Speeches.

Washington, May 28.—Administration leaders announced today that beginning Monday they would make an effort to keep the tolls exemption repeal bill continuously before the Senate until a vote is reached upon the bill and all the proposed amendments and substitutes.

According to the plan of Senator Simmons, who is leading the fight for repeal, all attempts to lay the bill aside for other measures will be opposed. If opponents of repeal move that it be side-tracked temporarily for appropriation or other bills, a vote will be forced on that motion. It is believed that the Senate soon will tire of speeches on tolls exemption when this plan is put in operation and many Senators are hopeful that the vote will not be long delayed.

Senators Oliver, Dupont and West spoke on the bill today. Senators Oliver and Dupont opposed repeal and Senator West favored it.

FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

John W. Skillen, of Sidney, Ohio, Has Found a Remedy.

Experts declare that the reason stomach disorders are so common in this country is due to hasty and careless habits of eating. Stomach troubles and rundown conditions usually go together.

John W. Skillen, of Sidney, Ohio, says: "I had a bad stomach trouble for years, and became so weak that I could hardly work or do any work. My appetite was poor, and it seemed impossible to get any relief. Since taking 'Vinol' I find a remarkable improvement in my health, my digestion is much stronger, and I have gained in weight. I would not be without Vinol."

Vinol makes weak stomachs strong because it strengthens and tones up the weakened, tired and overtaxed nerves of the digestive organs. Vinol is easily assimilated by the weakest stomachs, and is delicious to the taste.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.—Robert R. Bellamy, druggist, Wilmington, N. C.

The Day of Fake Advertising is Passing

As a matter of self-protection, as well as protection of the public, we are downright glad to see the dawn of honest advertising.

The store that has honest merchandise at right prices need not hesitate to tell the truth.

For Example, we never had the least difficulty in advertising Stein-Bloch Smart Clothes for men. They contain so much that is superaltively good that the plain truth about them is the simplest kind of a story.

But after all they tell their own story better than cold type can tell it. If you, Mr. Man, are not familiar with that story and the clothes that tell it, don't you wait another day to hear it.

Incidentally, the Spring and Summer showing of Stein-Bloch Smart Clothes is ready. To be found here exclusively.

The strenuous gentleman of Oyster Bay has his most fun when he is whipping the opposition into line.

The frailest woman in the land has no fear of a man who is always whipping the devil around the stump.

It's often the case that men who don't pretend to be good always insist upon something good to drink.

Some men can't help thinking that they have caught bigger fish than ordinary men think they have caught.

When standing at Armageddon gets nothing a straddle at Armageddon is the next attitude to be assumed by the Armageddonites.

Candidates for Congress two years from now are announcing themselves in order to show how anxious they are to serve the people at Washington.

Somehow or other, a whole lot of men hate to see some other hold on to a Congressional district so long that he thinks it is his for keeps.

A great many men who were thought to have had a hand in Big Business didn't have anything of the kind. Big Business had both hands in them.

When man's in earnest he thinks he has a cause, And if he's conscientious he'll surely get applause; But the man who's only out for fame or pelf, Is one to be promptly laid upon the shelf.

We are told that the snakes of Brazil are the largest in the world, but nobody is particularly interested in seeing snakes. Brazil also has insects which can bite a man and make him see sights never seen before.

A man claims that he has discovered that 100,000 years ago cockroaches were four feet long. It is stated that the man is not an entomologist but we are satisfied that he is a piker. Why didn't he claim that he had discovered a plot on the part of British geographers to prove that Colonel Roosevelt's new river runs up hill part of the way and walks the balance of the way?

It is stated that Colonel Roosevelt is sounding the Republicans in order to ascertain if this is the right time to attack the Wilson administration. We should say that right after he attacks Senator Penrose in Pennsylvania and then goes to Illinois to try to put the bodkin into Uncle Joe, will be plenty of time to undertake to tackle something that will keep him busy for two years.

The Indians away up on the River of Doubt are uncivilized and wear no clothes. However, as there is no first-class society that far away from civilization, the supposition is that the males of the specie have no use for such things as pants. In fact, if one of those bucks were to find a pair he would make the natives envious by boasting of his possession of a double-barrel sack in which to take his corn to mill.

Baron Munchausen, Jules Verne, Dr. Cook and Colonel Roosevelt are men who are looking for what they wanted and see it their way. Nobody who has ever gone over the same ground or had similar adventures and experience is prepared to refute what they declare. Just simply standing around and disputing everything somebody says will never be taken as refutation by those who want to give every man a square deal.

It is to be greatly regretted that the same old friction has broken out afresh between the city and county governing bodies over the appropriation for the maintenance of a health department. Undoubtedly there is something to be said on both sides; but what the people want both from the council and the county commissioners is more public service and less strife and bickering over possibly the most important branch of the city government. There should be a compromise of differences in some way and to the end that the public welfare does not suffer.

JAPANESE SHOES AND CHINESE EGGS.

Senator Penrose easily won in the Republican primaries in Pennsylvania, and has been proclaimed as the party's candidate for the Senate to succeed himself. During the campaign much standpattery was preached, and the probability is that the humor of the Pennsylvanians was aroused by the labored efforts of the Senator to scare them about the dangers that threaten from Democratic administration.

Penrose told gaping crowds that "Chinese eggs and pig iron are coming into the Pacific States in increasing quantities." Ain't it awful, Mabel? What dire consequences will happen to the Pennsylvania iron industry because the pauper made iron and the hen fruit of Chinese pauper poultry will flood the country? In the meantime, the small quantity of eggs which are coming into the Pacific States is welcomed for the reason that the people out there love ham and eggs, and don't like to do without just to keep up the little egg industry of Pennsylvania.

The Pacific people also appreciate the opportunity to get some scrap iron without interference from the Pennsylvania iron industry, which has been privileged under the tariff to exact high prices on the Pacific. When the Pacific slope people read about how a Pennsylvania steel concern swindled even the government on a contract for steel for the Panama Canal, they will rather appreciate the fact that they can get some of their iron from people who are not robbing their own government.

Republicans also are making a great hue and cry over the possibility that cheap Japanese shoes will ruin the American shoe industry. The Japanese shoe manufacturers pay their workmen 90 cents a day and the alarmists tell us that such labor as that ought not to make shoes in competition with Americans. In the meantime, England has free trade and the Japanese have never yet closed up the English shoe factories. Neither have American shoes under a high tariff, with a profit guaranteed, been able to invade England and crush its shoe industry.

We guess that even the American shoe manufacturers laugh at present day Republicans' campaign speeches, and so do the iron manufacturers and egg producers give a few snickers as they hear what the calamity howlers predict is going to happen to them. Meanwhile, consumers are glad they have an interest in being protected a little from the special interests which have been enriched at their expense.

THE DEMOCRATIC POSITION IS STRONGER.

There is little hope for the Republicans in the announcement that the outlook for the Democrats in the next Senate is that they will have a larger working majority than at present. The death of Senator Bradley, Republican, of Kentucky, reduces the Republican strength to 43, while the Democrats will gain one on that account. That will bring the Democratic strength up to 52, a fairly sized working majority for the Senate.

The Democratic strength is all the more reassuring since the 43 Republican Senators are bitterly divided on many of the questions of the day. Of the Republicans now in the Senate, the terms of 17 will expire next March, while the Democrats are confident that several of their successors will be Democrats or Progressives.

Next March, the terms of 15 Democratic Senators will expire, and all are sure of re-election or that a Democrat will succeed them. The present indications are that in the next Senate there will not be more than 40 Republican members, and it is believed by many at Washington that it will fall below that.

However, the election of a Democratic House this fall is all important, and if the House continues Democratic, as seems altogether likely at this time, well informed administration men believe that the Wilson administration will meet with less opposition in its last two years than during the first half of the administration.

HAVE WE GOT THE GET THERE GAIT?

No "movement" amounts to a hill of beans unless it is animated. To start a movement and let it go its route like a stream of molasses is the reason many a mere movement flickers out. A real movement has to have some gait to it. It has to be well organized and carried forward upon some systematic, well defined plan. It has to be pushed and the push has to get behind it and push.

We often start something and then act as if we need something to start us. The something we need is ginger enough to make us get a move on us, so we can know that there is a movement and realize that we are in it. A movement has to have life in it and it is us who have to put the life in it. If our movements in the interest of Wilmington and Southport haven't got any life in them and the gait they are going is like molasses, we had better search ourselves for the reason.

If we've got any push in us we ought to let it stick out so we'll be sure that we've got it. A movement without any move in it is like a hustler who doesn't hustle. A movement that has no sign of life in it is dead, but who lets it die? Search us.

We back our movements with our will, but we lack method and system in our undertakings. Movements need a propaganda, and if we don't propagate, agitate and vitalize our movements, how are they to succeed? We ought to do something, else something will do us.

We ought to gather together and get together, so the whole push can push. We will accomplish a great deal when we become a purposeful people, pushing the push cart instead of letting the push cart push us. Have we got the get there gait?

CHARLOTTE NEWS WOMAN'S EDITION.

The Charlotte News' edition in the interest of the Y. W. C. A. campaign was a huge affair, and the number certainly was a fine type of journalism. The publishers turned over the paper for one day to the ladies of Charlotte and they edited it and controlled all its features. They displayed marvelous genius for newspaper work, and the different departments of The News admirably reflected their taste and skill.

It was their opportunity for laying before the people of Charlotte the claims of the Y. W. C. A., and the splendid work done in that connection should have results beyond all expectations. An effort is being made to increase the membership of the young women's association to 1,000, and if getting out a magnificent edition of The News and earnest, systematic work will count for anything, they will achieve the mark to which they aspire.

Uncle Joe Cannon a few days ago announced his candidacy for Congress in the Danville (Ill.) district. He declared for standpattery and says the height of his new ambition is to kill two such birds as Wilson and Roosevelt with one stone. The Progressives have been angered by Uncle Joe's utter repudiation of the discoverer of the River of Doubt, and they are going to urge Colonel Roosevelt to go to Illinois and get Cannon's goat. Uncle Joe "almost laffs hisself to death" at the very idea, for he has in his letter files a few of the epistles of Teddy the which he proposes to read out loud for the edification and hilariousness of the crowd. Uncle Joe hints that some of those letters would convince the Rough Rider that there is political wisdom in the terse saying, "Don't write. Send word."

The mediators who are endeavoring to restore peace in Mexico, have been asked this question: "What will Villa do?" Evidently the thing he wants to do is to do Huerta.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Major Stedman will certainly appreciate the strong endorsement that he got from Durham county on Saturday, especially as the offering came from the leading losers in the post office contest.—Durham Sun.

If charges which resulted in the proposed reform of primary elections in South Carolina are true there are some Georgians who can't get enough of voting in their own State and are open to inducements to run over to the other bank of the Savannah river in order to cast ballots occasionally. It was charged that there were "numerous instances" when Georgians voted in South Carolina. And yet Georgia candidates deplore their inability to get out the vote in our own elections—Savannah News.

Most familiar names were in evidence in the gentlemen here to attend the meeting of the Republican Executive committee. Ex-office holders in plenty were on hand. There was Dan Patrick, former collector of Newbern; Tom Wallace, former postmaster at Wilmington; Wheeler Martin, former collector of the eastern district; the Hon. Tom Settle, the ablest man in the party, who has had the least pickings, and Secretary Grissom and Chairman Morehead, who have but recently kissed and made up. Last, but most familiar, there was Carl Duncan. On the outside looking in were a few Progressives, all mad and pouty.—Greensboro Record.

The forest fire is adding to the troubles of the land owners in the eastern part of the State. The dry bunch grass and the rosiny pines of the flat fields in that section, especially in a season when the swamps are dried up, make conditions of the best possible sort for spreading fires and in the past few days much valuable timber land in Brunswick, Pender Bladen and Columbus counties has been burned over. The people in that section have never been educated to the value of forest protection—in fact, what has been left of the pine forests since the devastation of the turpentine scrapers of years ago, has been allowed to take care of itself, the seedlings not even having protection from a worse enemy than the forest fire—the pine rooter hog. The no-fence law is gradually working into that section, however, and with the missionary work of such leaders as Keith in forestry preservation, conditions are improving. Each recurring forest fire, nevertheless, works damage it will take years to replace.—Charlotte Observer.

A STATEMENT BY MR. J. R. WILLIAMSON.

To the Editor of The Star:

In your issue of The Star of the 27th inst. I notice an article signed by one, O. M. Powers, of Chadbourn, N. C., containing a jumbled mass of misleading statements in reference to the primary held in Columbus county on May 12th. The signer of said article is no doubt better known in Columbus county than anywhere else, and he is one of a few who live in the town of Chadbourn whose ambitions seem to be to rule Columbus county politics or ruin it. His representations are in keeping with the policies of that particular Chadbourn crowd and their lieutenants.

Powers was so eager to get the facts crooked when stating my vote that he rather put it down at 782 instead of 826 as it should have been, but he did, I believe, get Doctor Withers vote correct, 614. When some of that Ring rule crowd was before the returning board on May 14th trying to get Whiteville precinct thrown out, they were willing, of course, for Dr. Withers to be declared nominated with a less number of votes than I received.

Mr. Powers did not state that all other candidates for the other offices were nominated under the same law and under the same rules that I was, and he has not raised any objections to any other such nominations. Our faithful and beloved United States Senator, Lee Slater Overman, filed his notice under the same law and is entitled to the solid Columbus county vote and no doubt will get it.

My majority over Dr. Withers was 212 and at the final vote for representative there were only two in the race, Dr. Withers and myself, the doctor receiving 614 and I 826; Williamson's majority 212.

Mr. Powers or any other person can not say correctly who would have received the majority of the second choice votes had near all the first choice voters voted for a second choice. He can not deny the fact that such voters had the right to vote for a second choice under the law. I do know that certain parties were very anxious to get candidates from certain sections to announce themselves for the Legislature at the beginning of the campaign, to my mind thinking they would receive the majority of the votes in those particular sections and that I would not (in that event) get the majority from those sections and that was true, I did not get the votes from those sections and Dr. Withers the next highest candidate to me did not get them.

Mr. Powers says he understands I am claiming to be the nominee of the party. To relieve his mind I will say yes, I certainly am the nominee. So declared by those good men who constituted the returning board on May the 14th, 1914, and I was not the only one they declared nominated. They declared nominated the county commissioners, the sheriff, the register of deeds, treasurer, clerk of Superior court, and other candidates who were nominated under the same rules and the same law that I was. Now why single out any one candidate? Of course there is a reason, and you, Mr. Powers, stated your reason when you were in Raleigh during the session of the Legislature, and that was that you and others were there to keep the court house bill from passing, for Chadbourn was the place for it and that the county must be divided. Now, Mr. Powers, you seem to be so good at repeating would you repeat that statement? And what would it amount to if you did repeat it?

As to the petition Mr. Powers refers to, Mr. C. D. Koonce, of Chadbourn, was present when the names were counted and assisted in the count, and there was not 1,550 on it as stated by Mr. Powers. I think that the number was 1,426 or 1,446 names and that is not a majority. But a petition with over 2,200 names is a majority, which was for the court house.

You state the amount of $100,000 for the court house. That statement is just like you, Mr. Powers, it is not true. The amount of $100,000, did not appear in any bill or law introduced by me at any time. There was never a time during the consideration of the court house question, that I thought the court house would cost over $50,000, and I believed then and believe now that it can be built for less than $50,000 if the commissioners will use the county convicts for the work (they are suitable for) on the building. I had passed a law giving the commissioners that right. Read section 3, chapter 118, page 124, Public Local Laws of 1913. Mr. Powers, you want to tell that little crowd who are influencing you to get a little better informed. Any man or set of men who say that I belong to any ring, clique, or saw mill corporation, tell that which is not true and such statements are manufactured only for the purpose of trying to mislead some voter. The people of Columbus county know that I am and have always been against the few that want to rule or ruin, and of course, the few such as they are who want to rule or ruin, pop up against me without a cause. I was not and will not be dictated to by any few in Chadbourn or anywhere else.

Respectfully,
J. R. WILLIAMSON.

THE RECORDER'S COURT.

Negro Sent Up to Superior Court on Larceny Charge.

Probable cause was found in the Recorder's court yesterday in the case of Alonzo Boston, colored, charged with the larceny of an automobile tire from Mr. W. D. MacMillan, and in default of bond in the sum of $50 the negro was sent to jail to await trial in Superior court. The tire was valued at more than $50, hence the Recorder's court did not have jurisdiction.

Judgment was suspended on the payment of costs in the case of William Miller, colored, charged with an assault with a deadly weapon. Oscar Bettiea and Cora Corbett, both colored, also charged with assault with a deadly weapon, were found not guilty.

DR. JOHN THAMES WILL SUPPORT DR. NESBITT

Would Not Supplant County Health Officer.

Dr. Nesbitt Says He Will Resign Only When County Board of Health Deems It Advisable in Interest of Health Work.

Rumors on the streets yesterday to the effect that Dr. John Thames, assistant county health officer, had been informed by a member of City Council that the efforts of that body in cutting down the appropriation for the health work this year were intended to force Dr. Chas. T. Nesbitt, the county health officer, to resign, and that Dr. Thames would be given the position in such event, were confirmed by Dr. Thames last night when asked about the matter by a representative of The Star.

Dr. Thames stated that Councilman T. W. Wood told him yesterday that the members of Council who are supporting the decrease in the health budget this year, were of the opinion that without an assistant and with his force of sanitary officers decreased, Dr. Nesbitt, would resign. Mr. Wood stated, Dr. Thames said, that Council was not trying to eliminate Dr. Thames, and that if Dr. Nesbitt resigned, Dr. Thames would be given his place.

Dr. Thames said that he told Mr. Wood in reply that he would not under any circumstances be willing to supplant Dr. Nesbitt; that he was thoroughly in accord with Dr. Nesbitt and was satisfied that he was the proper man for the position of county health officer. This position he reiterated most emphatically to The Star man last night, stating that he would not be willing to supplant Dr. Nesbitt for any consideration, and that if the action of council eliminated him from the health department, he would go gladly rather than see the city and county deprived of Dr. Nesbitt's services.

Dr. Nesbitt was also questioned about the matter last night, and he stated to the reporter that his resignation had been in the hands of the chairman of the Board of Health ever since he took office, to be used at any time the board deemed it advisable to do so in the interests of the health work in Wilmington and the county. Until the Board of Health saw fit to accept his resignation on those grounds, Dr. Nesbitt stated that he certainly would not be affected by any action that Council might take at this time, and he declared that he would continue to do everything in his power to promote the health work in the community, stating most emphatically that the action of Council would not have the result that would be indicated by Mr. Wood's statement.

Dr. Nesbitt stated that Dr. Thames had told him of his conversation with Mr. Wood earlier in the day, and he took occasion to refer very feelingly to th position taken by Dr. Thames in the matter.

RAIN IN THE COUNTY.

Shower Last Night on Wrightsville Sound and Beach.

Thunder clouds to the east and northeast late yesterday afternoon and last night gave some promise of relief from the prolonged drought, but in Wilmington proper there was no rain. However, persons arriving on the 8:30 o'clock car from the beach last night said there was quite a refreshing shower immediately on Wrightsville Sound, from Macomber's station over on the beach.

Forest fires continued to rage in the county yesterday and vegetation is still parched from the dry weather. It is reported that a dwelling house owned by Rev. J. P. King, near "Jumping Run," in the county, was destroyed by fire on Wednesday.

SAM SMALL SPEAKS TONIGHT

Famous Prohibition Lecturer Will Deliver Address at First Baptist Church—Programme.

Samuel W. Small, sometimes referred to as "The Georgia Cyclone", will deliver his National prohibition lecture, "See This Thing Through," at the First Baptist church this evening at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be presided over by Mayor Moore, and the public is cordially invited to attend and hear the famous lecturer.

The programme is as follows:

Organ prelude.

Song by chorus choir and congregation.

Prayer by Rev. Dr. W. H. Milton.

Song.

Introduction of Dr. Small by Mayor P. Q. Moore.

Lecture by Dr. Small.

Song.

Closing prayer by Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure.

Dr. Small is a man of exceptional attainments. He was born in Knoxville, Tenn., in the city founded by his family forebears; graduated with high honors from Emory and Henry College in Virginia, and after admission to the bar in Tennessee became private secretary to ex-President Andrew Johnson and followed that statesman's political fortunes to the United States Senate. He holds the literary degrees of A. B. and A. M. from his Alma Mater; Ph. D. from Taylor University, and D. D. from the Ohio Northern University. He is a trained journalist, many years editor of leading Southern newspapers, principally with the noted "Atlanta Constitution." He is the author of several books. By appointment of President Hayes he served as a secretary of the American Commission in Paris in 1878, and as a delegate from this country to the International Literary Congress of that year. He has served in many notable National conventions of political, commercial and reformatory character. While in the United States army in Cuba in 1899 he was military supervisor of public instruction, engaging in the reorganization of the public schools of the island.

In 1885 Mr. Small, then a prominent editor and public official, was converted through the preaching of Rev. Sam Jones, the great Georgia evangelist, and joined with him in holding evangelistic services in all the greater cities of the United States and Canada. Those were the most famous and successful religious meetings ever held in this or any other country. Dr. Small has led campaigns resulting in the closing of more than 10,000 drink shops, and is recognized in all quarters of the nation as one of the foremost apostles of prohibition.

He is an acknowledged master of genuine platform work. He has an encyclopedic fund of information, a brilliant play on imagery, an inexhaustible fund of humor, wit and playful sarcasm. His lectures are on solid themes of timely importance, but his unique manner in treating them affords an entertainment of delightful character.

CHAMBER STARTS BUSY YEAR

New Committees Announced at Meeting of Chairmen With Executive Board—Prospects Good.

With a long list of active committees to handle the various features of the organization for the ensuing year and with every prospect of broader influence and development for the benefit of commercial interests of Wilmington, the initial organization meeting of the year of the Chamber of Commerce was held yesterday with the committee chairmen and officers present.

In attendance were President M. J. Corbett, who presided; Vice President L. E. Hall, Messrs. J. VanB. Metts, C. VanLeuven and W. D. MacMillan, Jr., of the executive committee; Col. Walker Taylor, chairman of the legislative and taxation committee; Mr. John J. Blair, chairman of the civic improvement committee; Mr. M. W. Jacobi, chairman of the manufacturing and business enterprises committee; Mr. E. T. Taylor, chairman of the public entertainment committee; Mr. S. M. Boatwright, chairman of the insurance committee; Mr. W. B. Thorpe, chairman of the streets and wharves committee, and Mr. D. L. Gore, chairman of the arbitration committee.

President Corbett stated that the meeting had been called for the object of announcing the new committees for the year, to secure the approval of the chairmen as to the members of the various committes chosen by the executive board, and to discuss generally the work of the Chamber. He urged co-operation and the necessity for more frequent meetings of the committees in order that the organization may carry out its prospective plans and accomplish more for Wilmington during the present year.

Col. Walker Taylor, re-elected chairman of the Legislative and Taxation committee, made a number of pointed suggestions and remarks about the taxation feature of his committee and explained in a very practical manner what it embraced. He was assured the co-operation of the executive committee in carrying out his plans. He referred briefly to the quadrennial assessment of property in 1915; legislative enactment bearing on this subject and thought that recommendations from the Chamber in this matter during the year would be opportune and helpful.

Mr. D. L. Gore, re-elected chairman of the Arbitration committee, made a few optimistic and tactful remarks, that breathed the concensus of the meeting. He spoke advisedly of the great need of co-operative efforts in the upbuilding of Wilmington and urged the members of the Chamber to "pull together" for the general good of the community.

Mr. M. W. Jacobi spoke briefly of the general work of the Chamber and expressed his willingness to display all activity possible with his committee during the year; Mr. W. B. Thorpe also assured the executive board of his efforts in behalf of the streets and wharves committee. Mr. John J. Blair, re-elected chairman of the Civic Improvement committee, who has accomplished much good work with his committee, spoke of the need of better attendance at meetings of both committees and the Chamber and made some suggestions that were heartily approved. The meeting was altogether interesting and successful.

FRANKLIN, PIGFORD AND STUBBS ARE ACQUITTED

Charged With Murder of Cullin Powell in Wayne.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Goldsboro, N. C., May 28.—James Franklin, Leon Pigford and John Stubbs, tried in Superior Court here today for the murder of Cullin Powell, in this city, about a year ago, were acquitted. Defendants offered no testimony, but moved for non-suit, which was granted by the court, on account of the weakness of the State's testimony, without having gone to the jury.

SUMMER VACATION PROBLEM

Supt. J. J. Blair Interested in Aiding Pupils to Spend Useful Holiday Season This Year.

Supt. John J. Blair, of the city schools, is interested in the problem of providing ways and means for the boys and girls of the schools to spend their summer vacations in useful and gainful manner, and with this end in view he has offered to undertake to recommend to employers who may be in need of the services of some of the young people such student or students as he believes would be suitable for the position.

Speaking of the matter yesterday, Mr. Bliar had the following to say:

"The problem of the summer vacation extending over a period of more than three months, is one which every parent regards with more or less apprehension. United States government estimates show that five per cent. of the school children of cities and towns go away during the summer to farms and summer resorts; ten per cent. or less, have some useful occupation to follow throughout the vacation months, and 85 per cent. or more are at home without a definite, useful, or remunerative occupation.

"A part of these naturally spend their time in idleness, either on the streets or vacant lots, and without the guidance of a teacher or other responsible person.

"The department of education in Washington advises that the schools arrange to provide some practical form of instruction for this great mass of children, through what is now, in most cities, a long and wasteful vacation.

"The school day in this summer session should extend over a period of four hours, from 7 or 8 until 11 or 12 o'clock in the forenoon. The school work under such an arrangement would, of course, have to be changed so as to give more laboratory and work of a vocational nature, and less of the ordinary book work.

"It is claimed that children would under these conditions be much happier and healthier than they are as at present with nothing to do. This matter is mentioned here in order that it may be considered by all interested citizens.

"If there are business men or business houses in Wilmington who have positions which can be filled by boys or girls from the high school or the grammar schools, I shall be very glad indeed to recommend applicants for these places. If the request is sent in together with a description of the character of the work to be done, I feel sure that principals will aid in recommending a suitable person to fill the position.

"Any assistance which can be given to the boys and girls whose vacation begins with the fifth day of June, will be greatly appreciated.

"We have some boys who have expressed a desire to work on the farm, and many others who would be glad of the chance, for a small remuneration, to gain the experience which a business house or office, or factory, or any other industrial enterprise has to offer.

"Attention will be gladly given to any inquiry which may be made to the superintendent of the city schools.'

FAMOUS ARCHITECT WILL LOCATE HERE

Mr. Frank Mead Decides to Come to Eastern Carolina.

Left Last Night for California Home. Will Return in Two Months. To be Associated With the MacRae Interests.

Following a visit here extending over the past several days, Mr. Frank Mead, the celebrated California architect and landscape gardener, whose reputation is nation-wide, has decided to cast his lot with this section, and will, as soon as he can close up his affairs in California, establish his home in Wilmington, having formed connections with the Tidewater Power Company, the Carolina Trucking Development Company, and the other allied interests headed by Mr. Hugh MacRae.

Mr. Mead left last night for California. He will go by way of Savannah, where he intends to spend several days, and then go on to his Western home. As soon as possible he will arrange his interests there, and expects to return here within the next two or three months.

Though comparatively a young man, Mr. Mead's reputation as a landscape gardener and architect is well known all over the United States and in foreign countries, being counted one of the foremost men in this line in the country. He has, in addition to living in many different parts of the United States, traveled extensively in many foreign lands. Under President Roosevelt, for a number of years he was connected with the government service in the West in the capacity of an Indian agent, and his work for the Indians brought him fame in this line, too.

He has been interested in the Eastern North Caroma section for some years, and in fact, his visit here this time is his third to Wilmington. Mr. Hugh MacRae has been acquainted with Mr. Mead for a number of years, and has been endeavoring to get him to locate in this section, but it was not until this last visit that Mr. Mead reached the decision. Considering his knowledge of the entire United States, and the great amount of experience that he has had all over the country, it is decidedly flattering to this section that he has decided to locate here, bespeaking as it does his faith in the future possibilities for Eastern North Carolina.

In his connection with the Tidewater, the Carolina Trucking Development Company and the other allied interests, Mr. Mead will act as the expert in all matters calling for the attention of a skilled architect and landscape gardener. He will also be actively interested in the colonization work carried on by the Carolina Trucking Development Company, an undertaking in which he takes a deep natural interest. His knowledge of foreign conditions and foreign languages will be of great assistance to him in this work, and will render his services a most valuable asset to the company.

Mr. Mead will also be actively identified with the reclamation project and the big winter resort proposition which the Tidewater Power Company is planning for Wrightsville Beach. He has visited the beach and sound in company with Mr. MacRae and other officials of the Tidewater and is greatly impressed with the advantages it has to offer toward the establishment of a high class winter resort.

Mr. Mead has also visited all the colonies of the Carolina Trucking Development Company and other points in Pender, Columbus and the surrounding counties. He is very much impressed with the great progress that has been made in the rural sections in Eastern North Carolina, and he foresees in the next few years a development far greater than is expected by any save the most optimistic.

WORK ON CUSTOMS HOUSE

Preliminary Survey of Site for New Building to be Made by Mr. W. H. Banck, of This City.

Preliminary work in preparation for the erection of Wilmington's new $600,000 customs house, to be located on the water front, between Princess and Market streets, upon the site of the present customs house building and the surrounding structures, is expected to begin within the next few weks, Mr. W. H. Banck, a well known civil engineer of the city, having been authorized to make the survey of the site.

Mr. Banck received notice of his appointment yesterday in a telegram from Treasury officials at Washington, D. C., advising that his bid for the work had been accepted. He expects to receive instructions within the next week to proceed with the survey at once. A number of local engineers bid on the proposition of making the survey.

Mr. Banck's task will be to locate the property lines on all the property in the block now owned by the government as a customs house site, showing their relative locations to the street and wharf lines; to show the size and locations of the different buildings and walls now occupying the property, to make test borings for foundation purposes and in fact to make a complete map of the government's property in order to facilitate the work of tearing down the structures now on the site of the customs house building.

As soon as Mr. Banck's survey is completed, it is expected, the work of tearing down the old buildings will be started, preparatory to the letting of the contract and the actual beginning of work on the splendid new structure that will be a credit to the port of North Carolina.

ANGELS NOT SPIRITS OF DEAD MANKIND.

So the Bible Teaches, Says Evangelist Carlyle B. Haynes.

"There is a growing unbelief on the part of Christian people in the existence of evil, while angels whom the Bible teaches are 'ministers for them who shall be heirs of salvation,' are now believed by many to be the spirits of the dead. But the Bible not only teaches the existence of angels, but gives absolute proof that they are not the disembodied spirits of dead men," said Evangelist Carlyle B. Haynes last night in an address on "Angels—Who Are They?" delivered at the big tent at 11th and Market streets at the fifth meeting of the series of nightly services which he is conducting there.

To prove that there was a connection between the visible and the invisible world, that the ministration of the angels of God was a fact, and that the agency of evil spirits really existed, and that these things were inseparably interwoven with human history, Mr. Haynes read a large number of passages from the Bible. Perhaps the most striking thing in his preaching is the facility with which he turns to any part of the Bible and puts his finger upon the verse he needs to prove the point he is making. Last night he ran from end to end of the Bible, reading text after text to substantiate his teachings concerning the ministration of angels. Some of his statements follow:

"Angels are not the spirits of men and women who once lived on the earth. Angels were in existence before the creation of man, for we read in Job VIII, 7, that when God laid the foundations of the earth, 'the morning stars sang together and all the sons of God shouted for joy.' And then before a human being had died angels were sent to guard the tree of life, after the fall of man.

"Angels are a higher order of being than man, for David in the Psalms informs us that man was 'made a little lower than the angels.'

"Every Christian has a guardian angel to shield him from the power of Satan. Satan recognizes this, for he said to God, 'Doth Job fear God for naught? Hast thou not made a hedge about him, and about his house, and about all that he hath?'

"Thus God's people, exposed to the deceptive power and unsleeping malice of the prince of darkness, and in conflict with all the forces of evil, are assured of the unceasing guardianship of heavenly angels. Nor is such assurance given without need. If God has granted to his children promise of grace and protection, it is because there are mighty agencies of evil to be met, agencies numerous, determined, untiring, of whose malignity and power none can safely be ignorant or unheeding."

Tonight at the tent Mr. Haynes will preach a sermon on the subject, "Is Being a Christian Worth While?"

A Youthful Figure for You

IT is a very simple matter if the form from day to day is properly cared for through the corset. The grandame with the beautiful figure will "look the part" as long as she chooses, if her form is shaped and controlled by the proper corset, so that the muscles of the bust may not drop or the flesh grow flabby.

Bones and muscles must not be tampered with in corset designing. It is the flesh that is modelled in the corset shape, and from season to season the woman, as she grows to the grandame age, can wear the most youthful fashions if her corset is correct. MISS HERSHEY OUTLINES WORK OF CHAUTAUQUA.

Tarboro, N. C., May 28.—Quite a large crowd of people gathered at the court house here at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon for the purpose of meeting Miss Grace Hershey, of Philadelphia, field representative of the chautauqua which will be given here June 25 to July 1, inclusive, and hearing her outline the work that will have to be done by the local committees to make the week here the success the prominence of the speakers and other attractions offered, entitled it to be. Mayor Paul Jones presided over the meeting and introduced Miss Hershey who is a most attractive lady and who spoke interestingly and to such good advantage that by the time the nominations for officers of the local association were put in, everyone who had heard her was most enthusiastic.

The work will go ahead rapidly here and the future of chautauqua is assured for Tarboro. Officers were elected and all of them agreed to serve.

MRS. NORTHROP THE WINNER.

Defeats Mrs. Holt in Excellent Game of Golf—Annual Frolic.

In the finals of the Ladies' Championship Tournament played over the course of the club Wednesday afternoon between Mrs. E. C. Holt and Mrs. A. J. Northrop, the latter won by a score of 3 up and 2 to go. The match was for 18 holes, but the first nine holes were played last Tuesday, resulting in a tie. Both ladies played excellent golf. Mrs. Northrop, by winning this match, becomes the club champion for the year.

The presentation of the cups to the winners of the season took place at the club house Wednesday night and was attended by a hundred or more guests. The cups and souvenirs were presented by Mr. John J. Blair in his usual happy manner. Many of the recipients expressed their appreciation in short speeches of the honor conferred upon them. Mr. W. A. Townes spoke of the splendid grit of Dr. J. W. Stanly, his opponent, who played in the spring tournament under most unfavorable circumstances, having suffered for some time with appendicitis. He underwent an operation Monday and his friends will be glad to know that he is getting along nicely.

Following the supper and the presentation of the cups there was a dance given which was greatly enjoyed by all taking part.

The annual spring frolic of the club closes the tournaments of the club until next fall, although the golf course will be kept open during the summer.

BIG FIRE LAST NIGHT.

Store and Dwelling at Castle Haynes. Loss, $5,000.

Fire Chief Schnibben was called to Castle Haynes last night on account of a big fire there which destroyed a combined store and dwelling, a barn and a two-story dwelling, entailing a loss of between $5,000 and $6,000, partly covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown. The buildings were owned by Mr. Spalding.

When Chief Schnibben arrived the buildings had been burned to the ground. Only the efficient work of the men of the community saved the depot and a store across the street from the burning buildings. Chief Schnibben took several men with him, but no apparatus.

WILL ADOPT BUDGET TODAY

City Council Will Hold Special Session This Morning—Conference Held Last Night.

For the purpose of adopting the budget for the approaching fiscal year, City Council will meet in special session this morning at 11 o'clock. The different items carried in the budget were practically decided upon at the conference held in the mayor's office last night, and there remains little to do save for the formal adoption, unless some changes are decided upon at the last minute.

As it stands now the budget for the coming fiscal year will carry a total appropriation, exclusive of items of outstanding indebtedness not covered in the budget proper, of approximately $299,537, as against $276,418 in last year's budget. Part of the increase, however, is not for current expenses, but for the purchase of new property, including a police auto patrol, at $3,200; a new pump for the fire boat at $5,000 and a street flusher, to be used in street cleaning, at $1,350. Other items carried in the increase are for increases in salary for the members of the fire department and street department, officials in the street department and water and sewerage department, etc.

At the conference last night it was practically decided to take over the management of the incinerator, now operated by the Board of Health, Councilman Merritt expressing it as his opinion that even if the Board of Health refuses to pay one-fifth of the cost of operation under such an arrangement, that the city could save money anyway.

The four members who are in favor of the cuts made in the budget for the health department showed no intention of receding from their position at the meeting last night, and are evidently determined to stand pat and put the budget through today as decided upon at a conference several days ago.

The appropriation for the James Walker Memorial hospital is increased ed this year from $6,000 to $8,000, an increase having been requested by the board of managers some months ago.

The matter of including in the budget for the department of streets and wharves the sum of $1,350 for the purchase of a motor-operated street flusher to be used in cleaning the paved streets was brought up last night by Councilman B. A. Merritt, who stated that it would enable him to save money. After some discussion the item was included in the budget.

Supt. Wm. E. Merritt, of the water and sewerage department, will be given an increase in salary for the coming year of $150, from $1,500 to $1,650. The bookkeeper in the water and sewerage department will also be given an increase in salary of $5 a month.

A number of other slight additions and alterations in the different items on the budget as tentatively decided upon at the conference a few nights ago were made last night, and when the meeting adjourned the budget was practically in shape to be passed without material change at the meeting this morning.

PROPOSE CENTRAL BODY

Movement to Merge All Local Commercial Bodies Into One Strong Organization—Meeting.

The formation of a powerful central commercial organization, into which will be merged all the different bodies whose aim it is to promote the commercial welfare and the development of the city and section's resources was considered at a meeting of the real estate men, architects and several other business and professional men, held in the offices of Mr. Hugh MacRae yesterday morning, at which time a committee was appointed to take the matter up with the different local organizations.

The idea was presented to the meeting by Mr. Hugh MacRae, and it was enthusiastically received by all present. After discussing the proposition in all its phases a committee was appointed to present the proposition to the several organizations of the city for the purpose of interesting them. The committee is composed as follows:

Mr. Hugh MacRae, chairman; Messrs. H. F. Wilder, L. W. Moore, T. H. Wright, H. N. Bontiz, J. J. Loughlin and B. H. Stephens. This committee will meet within the next few days and map out the preliminary plans for carrying out the consolidation, and a general meeting of delegates from all the commercial bodies will be held sometime soon for the further consideration of the idea, at which time the central body may be organized.

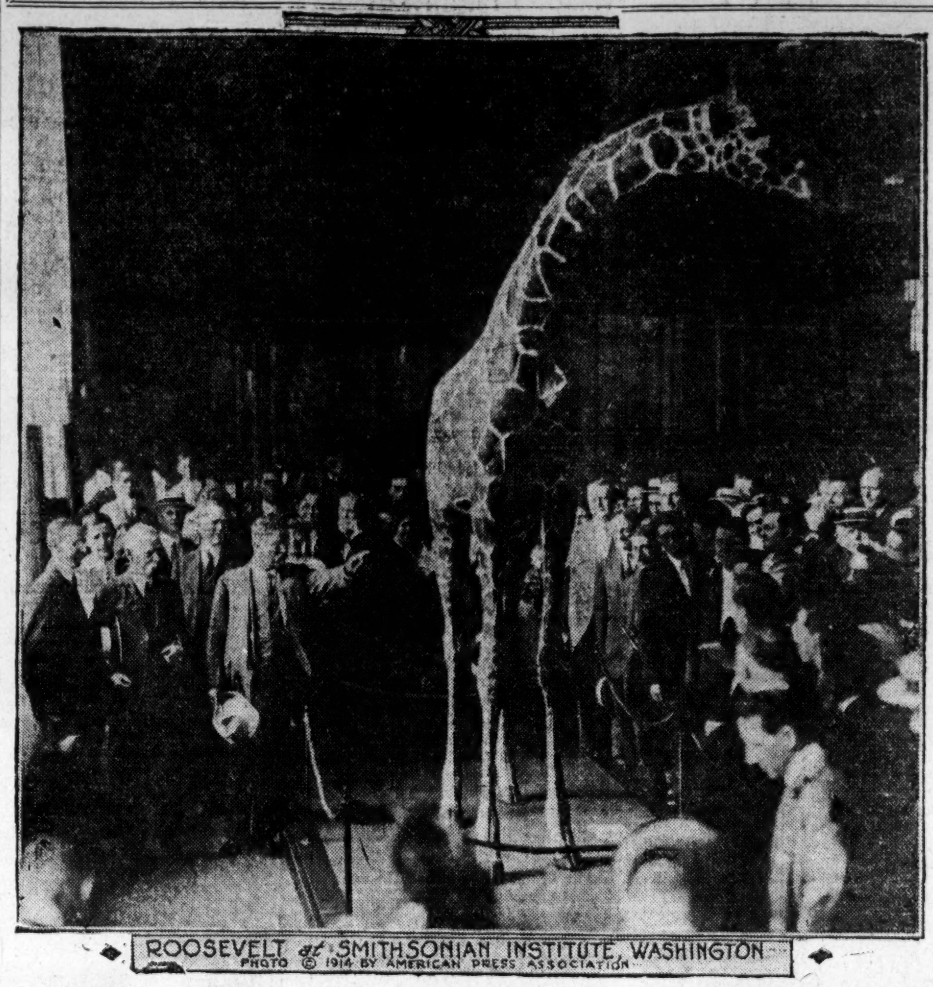
Mr. Frank Mead, a celebrated California architect who has just decided to locate here, and who will be associated with the Tidewater Power company and its allied interests, was present at the meeting yesterday and made a most interesting talk, professing unlimited faith in the future that lies before Wilmington and the surrounding territory.

Another interesting talk was made by Mr. R. C. Hood, of Greensboro, a well known business man of that city who, with his associates, has recently made investments in this section. The local real estate men and others present also joined in the discussion of the plan for a central boosting organization, and all were unanimous in the opinion that such a body could accomplish far more than a number of smaller, and consequently weaker organizations.

—Eddie Martin, colored, was arrested last night at the home of Mr. James Howard, on Third street, by Plainclothesmen Frank George and B. W. Jacobs, on a charge of burglary. The police were informed several days ago that the house had been entered several times recently, and have been keeping a close watch of the dwelling. The negro was locked up.

—Mr. Earl King has returned home from the A. & M. college, where he was a student the past year.

River or No River, Hunter T. R. Did Shoot This Great Giraffe



River or no river, there's no doubt but that Colonel Roosevelt shot this giraffe. You've got to take your hat off to him for that anyway. This picture show the colonel at the National museum of the Smithsonian, Washington, pointing out where he shot the huge animal. It is a splendid specimen of a reticulated, or vein-striped giraffe. The hunter also saw the other trophies of his African hunt of several years ago. He visited Washington to tell about his new river before the National Georgraphic society and to spend a social half hour with President Wilson at the White House.

BETTER TRAIN SERVICE NORTH

Meeting of Traffic Committee of Chamber of Commerce Yesterday Noon to Consider Matter.

The question of better through train service to the North over the Atlantic Coast Line, which has been under consideration by the traffic committee of the Chamber of Commerce for sometime, resulting already in the addition of modern Pullman equipment on trains as now operated, was given still further consideration at a meeting of the committee with Passenger Traffic Manager W. J. Craig, of the Atlantic Coast Line, yesterday at noon.

Chairman J. Allan Taylor presided and other members of the committee in attendance were Messrs. J. Gilchrist McCormick and R. A. Parsley; the other members, Messrs. H. E. Boney and J. W. Perrin being absent. At a meeting some two weeks ago the subject was considered at some length, but owing to objection to a tentative agreement which would have eliminated trains 90 and 91 between Wilmington and Goldsboro—the trains arriving here at 1:15 A. M., and leaving at 3:40 A. M.—this phase of the question was referred for investigation to a committee composed of Mr. McCormick and a representative of the press, which would be greatly affected by the proposed elimination. This committee made report yesterday, but owing to the absence of the full membership of the committee, the matter was still further deferred to a meeting to be held next week. The report of the sub-comimttee as submitted to the chairman is as follows:

Wilmington, N. C., May 25, 1914.

Mr. J. A. Taylor, Chairman, Traffic Committee, Chamber of Commerce, Wilmington, N. C.

Dear Sir: The undersigned, heretofore appointed as a committee to investigate and report in regard to the improvement of the passenger train service on the Atlantic Coast Line between Wilmington and the North, have made an investigation and find that there is widespread complaint on account of the service between Wilmington, Richmond, Washington, New York and other Northern cities; that this service has not kept abreast either with increased travel or improved train service elsewhere; that trains numbers 41 and 42, which afford the only through service between Wilmington and the North, are slow and in many respects inferior to, when improvements are considered, similar service 12 and even 20 years ago; that the present schedule time of number 41, Rocky Mount to Wilmington, is 25 miles an hour, this train consuming one hour and four minutes from Burgaw to Wilmington, a distance of 22 miles; that, when the delay at Rocky Mount is considered, northbound train number 42 is even less satisfactory, the time consumed between Wilmington and New York now being twenty hours and forty-six minutes against eighteen hours more than twenty years ago. The sleeping car accommodations on this train are likewise inadequate and not, in our opinion, such as the volume of travel and present-day conditions should receive.

Trains 48 and 49 are very slow and their schedules seem to be adjusted more to express service than to take care of any through travel. At present, by using train 48 to Suffolk, Va., and thence via the N. & W., Richmond, Va., can be reached one and one-half hours earlier than by using train 48 to Rocky Mount and 80 to Richmond, which is the regular advertised schedule, although the distance via Suffolk is about 80 miles further. The schedule of trains 90 and 91 is slow and, when compared with other schedules for similar service, it would seem as if a later departure for train 90 and an earlier arrival for number 91 could be arranged, and this is stated without regard to the schedules of these trains north of Goldsboro, which are materially slower than in 1902 when fewer trains covered the same territory. No sleeping car service is maintained on numbers 90 and 91 and nothing in the way of equipment, schedules or otherwise has ever been done, so far as we can learn, to lessen the hardships of travel on these two trains. In brief, it may be stated that the service between Wilmington and the North is insufficient, unsatisfactory and in no way in keeping either with the amount of travel or present-day conditions.

We are of the opinion that there is a widespread demand for improvement of this service; that the interests of Wilmington, as well as the remainder of the territory to be served, are entitled not only on account of the traffic directly affected, but also by reason of the general satisfactory and remunerative traffic in the territory referred to, to a through service which, without disturbing or impairing the local service in the territory, would place passengers at Wilmington about 8:30 o'clock A. M. and would leave something after 9 o'clock at night; that this service should be a through train making stops only at the principal points between here and Rocky Mount with adequate Pullman and dining car accommodations and that, if this service was established and the schedules on the W. C. & A. so revised as to give the territory between Wilmington and Pee Dee, S. C., and adjacent branch lines, which would naturally go North via Wilmington and which on account of the present service travels more largely in other directions, the benefit of this service, the trains so established would, in our opinion, not only be of great benefit to the territory served, but would soon become paying propositions.

Respectfully submitted,
J. G. McCORMICK,
J. E. THOMPSON.

SEPTIC TANKS AT BEACH.

Wrightsville Beach Aldermen Decide to Have Installed at Once.

Pursuant to the action of the property owners of Wrightsville Beach at a meeting held several weeks ago, the board of aldermen of Wrightsville Beach have decided to begin immediately the installation of a system of septic tanks at the beach to take care of the sewerage disposal. The work will be done by the Tidewater Power Company and will be completed about July 1st. The cost will be about $5,000 and the money will be loaned to the beach corporation until they can pay it back which will require about four years time.

There will be ten large tanks and 25 smaller ones. The system has been approved by both the State and the county boards of health and is recognized as the most modern and most efficient method now used under such conditions as exist at the beach.

—Eight hundred happy children, members of the Sunday schools of the Southside and Brooklyn Baptist churches, spent the afternoon yesterday at Wrightsville Beach as the guests of the Tidewater Power Company.

It is Just Natural To Admire Babies

Our altrustic nature impels love for the coming infant. And at the same time the subject of motherhood is ever before us. To know what to do that will add to the physical comfort of expectant motherhood is a subject that has interested most women of all times. One of the real helpful things is an external abdominal application sold in most drug stores under the name of "Mother's Friend." We have known so many grandmothers, who in their younger days relied upon this remedy, and who recommend it to their own daughters that it certainly must be what its name indicates. They have used it for its direct influence upon the muscles, cords, ligaments and tendons as it aims to afford relief from the strain and pain so often unnecessarily severe during the period of expectancy.

Every woman should mention "Mother's Friend" when the stork is the subject of conversation. An interesting little book is mailed free upon application to Bradfield Regulator Co., 405 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It refers to many things that women like to read about.

Get or recommend a bottle of "Mother's Friend" to-day and write for the book.

Aged, Wrinkled Faces Easily Rejuvenated

An aged face is often only a mask to a comparatively youthful person. Beneath is a countenance young and fair to look upon. It's a simple matter to remove the mask. Ordinary mercolized wax, to be had at any drugstore, gradually absorbs the worn-out surface skin; in a week or two the user has the loveliest pinky white complexion imaginable. An ounce of the wax usually is sufficient to complete the transformation. It is put on at night like cold cream and taken off in the morning with warm water.

This remarkable treatment is invariably effective, no matter how muddy, sallow or discolored the complexion. Freckles, moth patches, liver spots, pimples, blackheads and other cutaneous blemishes, naturally vanish with the discarded skin.

To remove wrinkles, here is a recipe that cannot be too highly recommended: Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in ½-pint witch hazel. Use as a wash lotion. It acts instantaneously and is wonderfully effective.

TOWER HILL ONCE CAPITAL

Granite Boulder Unveiled Marking Spot Once Seat of North Carolina Government.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., May 28.—A granite boulder to mark the seat of government for four years of the colony of North Carolina was unveiled on historic Tower Hill, four miles from here, this afternoon. The marker was the gift of the North Carolina Society of the Colonial Dames of America, and its inscription relates that early in the 18th century Tower Hill was by act of the Colonial Assembly the capital of North Carolina. William Herritage, clerk of the assembly for 30 years, resided there.

A street in Kinston is named for Herritage, who was a wealthy planter with a large estate. A portion of the old Herritage mansion still stands, being utilized as the foundation for the country home of I. M. Tull, a deputy collector of internal revenue. Exercises held in Kinston and on Tower Hill included addresses by several prominent people. The programme follows:

In the Lenoir county court house:

Song, "America."

Prayer by Rev. J. H. Griffith, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal church.

Address of welcome by Mayor F. I. Sutton.

Address by R. D. W. Connor, of Raleigh, secretary of the North Carolina Historical Commission.

Presentation of the tablet by Mrs. E. P. Bailey, president of the North Carolina Society of the Colonial Dames of America, of Wilmington.

"The Star Spangled Banner."

On Tower Hill:

Reading of the act of the Colonial Assembly making Tower Hill the seat of government, by G. V. Cowper.

The unveiling.

Acceptance of the marker by Representative E. R. Wooten for the Lenoir county committee of the Colonial Dames.

Benediction by Rev. H. A. Humble, pastor of Queen Street Methodist church.

The throng which witnessed the ceremonies included a number of notable visitors from other places. The trip from Kinston to Tower Hill was made in automobiles. At noon a basket dinner was served on the hill. Many descendants of William Herritage were among the celebrants.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE NEEDHAM B. BROUGHTON

Conducted From Tabernacle Baptist Church in Raleigh.

Raleigh, N. C., May 28.—The funeral of the late N. B. Broughton was conducted yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock from the Tabernacle Baptist church, to which this consecrated Christian and successful business man gave so much of his means and personal effort. The attendance taxed the capacity of this big church and the sad ceremonials were well befitting the noble life of this good man who died Tuesday morning in Philadelphia where he had gone for an operation.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Chas. E. Maddry and Rev. A. M. Simms. There were a number of old hymns that were especially dear to the deceased sung by a special choir, these including, "How Firm a Foundation," and "No Shadows Yonder." The board of deacons of the church constituted the honorary pallbearers and the active pallbearers were W. A. Cooper, J. H. Weathers, J. J. Bernard, C. R. Boone, A. H. Mooneyham and R. N. Simms. During the service many places of business in the business section of the city were closed as a tribute to the deceased who was for so many years such a power for all that is good in the civic and business activities of the city.

Mr. Broughton was 66 years old and had been one of the most useful citizens of Raleigh and of the State. His health began failing something like a year ago and he gave up his active business connections largely, being still, however, the president of the Edwards & Broughton Printing company, which he and C. B. Edwards established in 1871. He and Mrs. Broughton had planned for a tour of Europe, especially the Holy Land, as soon as his health sufficiently rallied.

Mr. Broughton's most zealous activities for many years had been in his church and Sunday school work. He established and brought into really world-wide fame the Tabernacle Baptist Sunday school here and was the pillar of Tabernacle church, besides being probably the foremost Baptist layman in North Carolina. He had international relations in the Baptist and interdenominational work.

He was prominent in the affairs of the State as well. He served as a member of the Legislature and on numerous State boards. His last notable appointment was by Governor Craig as his representative of the legislative freight rate commission during the 1913 session that finally led up to the settlements that were accomplished in the conferences at Old Point Comfort between the Corporation Commission and the railroad officials and approved by the Legislature in special session, these rates to go into effect early in June.

It was in 1869 that Mr. Broughton married Miss Caroline R. Lougee. She and six children survive. These are: Edgar E. Broughton, former president of the North Carolina Merchants' association; Mrs. Chas. B. Park, Mrs. S. O. Garrison, Miss Rosa Broughton, Miss Carolina Broughton and N. B. Broughton, Jr. Dr. Len G. Broughton, the famous Baptist minister, now of London, England, is his nephew.

SOUTHPORT NEWS AND GOSSIP

No Waste in Using 160 Tons Black Drum for Scrap—Big Realty Deal.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Southport, N. C., May 27.—A few weeks ago the fishing steamer Lawrence, of the Carolina Coast Products Co., brought in a cargo of black drum, about 160 tons in weight, and unloaded these fish at the company's dock on the Cape Fear river, at the fisheries.

The catch of these black drum and the seeming wanton waste of a fish that to most people is held as edible, turning over to scrap such a quantity of fish that should have gone to human beings to eat, has provoked considerable discussion up and down the river, largely among traveling folks, and the discussion has been against the company which put its steamer to such use, instead of catching the menhaden.

As a matter of information, at the same time doing justice to the company engaged in the fishing industry on the Cape Fear, your correspondent has looked up the subject of the black drum of these waters and learns that this fish is really unfit for human food after it reaches a weight above two pounds, because its flesh becomes worm infected. The black drum spawns upon the oyster beds, and practically destroys the oyster, both by its spawning, by the larger grown drum being armed with large teeth and a strong jaw, with which it can crush either an oyster shell or clam shell, and secure the contents which it devours.

The destructiveness of the black drum of these waters appears to be known to the National government, for, according to the fishing steamer captain, there is a bounty placed upon the catching and destruction of this fish.

The power steamer Hazlyn was here a few days ago, leaving Monday, from New York to Santo Domingo, the stop here being for oil fuel. The Hazlyn was recently purchased by the United States government for patrol service in connection with the custom house at Santo Domingo, the receipts from these being important to secure the payment of certain loans made in that island. The Hazlyn is 99 feet long, 16 feet beam and is equipped with two 90 horsepower standard engines, capable of developing a speed of 11 knots per hour.

Capt. Simmons, who is in charge of this boat, is a close friend of Mr. Walker Vick, formerly of Wilmington, who is well remembered in this section. Mr. Vick now has a government position at Santo Domingo, and is the man for the place, according to the captain of the Hazlyn.

It is only the question of having the price, not an excessive price, either, for any one or family having splendid fish for their table. The selection this week is from sheephead, flounder, mullet or blackfish, and quantities of these fish are on the local market.

The Blades lumber people of Newbern, are reported as busy securing options on timber in this part of Brunswick county. The largest deal reported is that of the land and timber from the Rourk brothers, who have several thousand acres in Lockwoods Folly and Shallotte townships, the transaction representing $45,000. There is a good stand of very fine timber on these acres.

A. C. L. SUPERINTENDENTS AND TRAINMASTERS MEET.

"Safety First" Subject of Discussion at Rocky Mount.

Rocky Mount, N. C., May 28.—The superintendents and trainmasters for the first division of the Atlantic Coast Line held a session yesterday morning at the Y. M. C. A. when general matters of railroad operation were discussed, including a discourse on the vital question of "Safety First" among employes.

Officials and trainmasters from over the five districts were present in this city for a conference with General Superintendent Newell, Superintendent of Transportation Darrow, and Engineer of Roadway Laird. Those superintendents present were Superintendent of Norfolk District B. J. Hughes; Superintendent of Richmond District E. Phenneger; Superintendent of Fayetteville District C. L. Porter; Superintendent of Wilmington District V. R. C. King, and Superintendent of Columbia District G. G. Lynch. There were about a dozen trainmasters in attendance.

In addition to the general matters of railroad operation and while the meeting was behind closed doors, it is understood that one of the principal topics brought to the attention of the meeting was that of "Safety First" for the employes of the road. This great movement has been sweeping the nation, but the first to take hold in the South, so far as we have record, has been the Atlantic Coast Line, and the First Division has led to the work.

WILEY GRAY ORATORS CHOSEN.

Mr. B. W. Ruark, of Southport, Honored at Trinity.

Trinity College, Durham, N. C., May 27.—The four speakers who will contest for the Wiley Gray orators' medal on Tuesday night of commencement week were selected last night after a preliminary contest held in the Craven Memorial hall. The winners of places in this contest were Messrs. B. W. Ruark, Southport; J. R. Davis, Shelby; James Cannon, Blackstone, Va., and E. C. Durham, Roscoe.

The judges of the preliminary last night were Dean W. I. Cranford, Dr. F. N. Parker, Dr. W. T. Laprade, Dr. Frank C. Brown and J. E. Pegram.

The newly organized Trinity College band which has proved such a great asset in fostering college spirit on the athletic field this year has at last been definitely made a permanent factor in the college community. At a meeting of the "Tombs" Society yesterday, that organization voted to pay the band out of debt, and to assume complete control in the future. A Trinity band is now assured.

Final examinations began here yesterday. They will end on Friday, June 5, and commencement will begin the following Sunday, June 7.

THE DOG IS UPPERMOST.

Dog or No Dog—Are You for or Against?

Greenville, N. C., May 27.—Town politics are now uppermost. The dog is on top, being the most discussed issue. Dog or no dog on the streets is the absorbing issue, with friends of the dog claiming the lead. "How are you on the dog question?" asked a voter of a prospective candidate. "Kill all the dogs is my platform," was the reply. "Then d—d if I vote for you," was the response and the voter continued his dog campaign.

THEATRICAL

It is the cream of the Keith Vaudeville that the Victoria Theatre is so daintily serving up for the rest of the week. The new show opened yesterday and made a distinct hit directly on the start. It is a bill especially strong for comedy, with a liberal mixture of novelty. Each act is snappy and jolly, which affords most delightful entertainment for warm weather. However, so cool is the Victoria, which is electrically chilled, that one never knows how hot it is. The Victoria is really deliciously comfortable. One of the star acts of the new bill is furnished by the Marconi Bros., billed as wireless musicians. They are two clever accordian players, and the way they manipulate these instruments is wonderful to behold, besides providing a great concord of sweet sound. Another act of star brand is served up by Lavine and Inman, in a decidedly bright and mirthful comedy, "Sally's Visit." It is a rural playlet that's a great novelty. Yet another is "Just Married," a pretty, dainty, amusing sketch offered by Jenkins and Covert. Nita Allen, a charming comedienne, is also a topliner. Besides, there's two big films and fine orchestra music.

Next week, commencing Monday, the Victoria will offer a merry season of musical comedy, of the latest and best tabloid type. Parker's Cabaret Girls will be presented in music shows with plenty of ginger. It is not a second class offering, but one of standard nature.

At the Grand Today.

Here it is at last, but the Grand, where the cool breezes always play, is the first to offer it in Wilmington. In fact, the Grand makes the presentation simultaneously with the larger theatres in the larger cities. Today the Grand offers as the star of its splendid show—all for 5 cents admission, too—Kalem's wonderful, masterly, costly two-part film, "Captured by Mexicans." It is a star of the first magnitude and throbs with the spirit of the times. It is based on incidents in the tour of those transcontinental travelers, Cleo Ridgeley and Don Ridgeley, and it's a hummer for excitement, while depicting the Mexican of today as he really is. Besides the two popular Thespians mentioned others in the cast will be Paul C. Hurst, who will play well the role of "Pete" a Mexican; William H. West, T. G. Lingham and Larry Peyton.

Another one of those famous Vitagraph films, in which clever little Bobby Connell appears, is also a bright star today. It is "Fraid Cat", and it is a great, intense story of how "Sonny Jim", played by Master Connell, saves his father from the clutches of an old skinflint. The well known actor, Tefft Johnson will appear as "Daddy Jim" while the difficult role of "Old Skinflint Pennyworth" will be portrayed by Albert Roccardi. Charming Dorthy Kelly will also be seen.

Another great photoplay today is "The Rube." Of course, it's funny.

Big Bijou Feature.

Believe us, when we tell you that yesterday was some feature day at the popular photoplay house. The crowds started as soon as the doors opened yesterday afternoon, and as late as 10 o'clock last night, standing room was at a premium in Wilmington's largest and coolest theatre. And with all this throng in one room, incredible as it may seem, the air was as pure, as cool and as wholesome as if right off Wrightsville Beach.

For today the management has provided another swell bill for the delectation of those who know a good thing when they see it. It is headed by a mammoth three-reel "101 Bison" (You all know that these pictures come very seldom, as they are exclusive features and take much time in the making). The title is "The Hills of Silence," and it is a hot-blooded, galloping melodrama of the early West, portraying horrid battles between emigrants and Indians in which is depicted the rude, and at the same time romantic, lives of the far-Western pioneers; their dangers, pleasures and sorrows, together with everything else that belonged to those adventurous days, when the red skin was monarch of the uncharted wonderland that the white man was destined to buy in coins of red blood and hazardous toil. The days when only the fittest survived; when physical energy, quick wits and determination spelled success or failure, and when the road to the imaginary El Dorado was spotted with the graves of those who were not cut after the proper pattern. It is a great story, and has made a great movie, and will be the hit of the week at the Bijou today.

Supplementing this big offering will be a big Princess comedy, "Billy's Ruse", which will be found an uproriously funny picture to end the performance for a big day.

WHEDBEE AND ABERNETHY NOMINATED AT GREENVILLE.

Opponents of Fifth District Solicitor Withdraw.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Greenville, N. C., May 28.—Fifth judicial district convention met here today. Each county was fairly well represented, but the general attendance was small. Judge Whedbee was re-nominated by acclamation, being without opposition. All candidates against Solicitor Abernethy withdrew. He was then nominated by acclamation.

MRS. WILLIAMS' LONG SICKNESS

Yields To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Elkhart, Ind.:—"I suffered for fourteen years from organic inflammation, female weakness, pain and irregularities. The pains in my sides were increased by walking or standing on my feet and I had such awful bearing down feelings, was depressed in spirits and became thin and pale with dull, heavy eyes. I had six doctors from whom I received only temporary relief. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial and also the Sanative Wash. I have now used the remedies for four months and cannot express my thanks for what they have done for me.

"If these lines will be of any benefit you have my permission to publish them."—Mrs. SADIE WILLIAMS, 455 James Street, Elkhart, Indiana.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Gossip From Washington

OSCAR UNDERWOOD tells a good story on himself. It has to do with a trip to Princeton shortly after Mr. Wilson was nominated. He sat by a man who began a conversation regarding prominent Democrats, expressing himself freely on their points.

As the train bowled over the Jersey meadows the stranger remarked:

"Well, there is just one fellow I would love to see, and that is Oscar Underwood."

Mrs. William G. McAdoo, the fourteenth White House bride, is the greatest lover of sports in the president's family. Tennis is one of her favorite games. She rides well, swims and rows and is graceful in the saddle. The fondness of both Mr. and Mrs. McAdoo for the new dances leads society to believe that the McAdoo home in Massachusetts avenue will be the scene of many brilliant functions next fall and winter. Mrs. McAdoo is the only member of the president's family who has a nickname. To her family and intimates she is known as Nell.

MRS. WILLIAM G. M'ADOO.

Secretary McAdoo has bought a pair of fine carriage horses, two sets of silver mounted harness and two carriages which formerly belonged to his predecessor in office, Franklin MacVeagh of Chicago, but he is not aware of the origin of his purchases. Neither does Mr. MacVeagh know the outfit belongs to his successor.

When Mr. MacVeagh left the treasury department he turned over the equipage to a confidential clerk to dispose of. The clerk made every effort, and after the horses had eaten their heads off for several months he persuaded a local dealer to fix a price on the outfit, which he wired Mr. MacVeagh, who confirmed the deal. The clerk called on a local dealer in fine equipages, who the same day had received a commission from Mr. McAdoo to make his purchase.

WILLIAM G. M'ADOO.

"You are the man I am looking for," said the dealer. "I am commissioned by Secretary McAdoo to buy an outfit for riding, and I am wondering what has become of Mr. MacVeagh's."

"I have just come here to tell you that I am commissioned by Mr. MacVeagh to make the sale at a certain price," replied the clerk. Thereupon a deal was made, and Mr. McAdoo became the owner of Mr. MacVeagh's horses, carriages and harness.

Senator Walsh of Montana tells a story of a man who did his work vicariously. Jim Jones was a ne'er do well—loafing his principal occupation and sponging on others his only industry. He never displayed any energy except at meals.

His brother did most of the supporting of the entire family, but at one time even that downtrodden member happened not to have any position. Jim lounged about, grouching at his hard luck. Then one day he met the senator, and a smile as bright as a new engagement ring illuminated his rusty countenance.

"Why, Jim, you seem happy!" exclaimed the senator. "What's the glad news? Must have had some good luck come your way."

"I have!" cried Jim, throwing out his chest with pride. "My brother has just got a new job!"

Senator Blair Lee of Maryland clings to his habit of sleeping on the farm where he was born. It is eight miles from the senate chamber, and he motors there every evening.

SUMMER QUILTS.

Patchwork Affairs For Use In the Summer Bungalow.

There is nothing like the old fashioned patchwork quilt for use with a four post bed. Even though the bed be a copy only of the antique, the quilt needs to be of the same era, especially if the room is furnished with rag rugs. Now and then at fairs and among private customers one finds a woman who knows how to make rag carpets and mats, and there is nothing more appropriate for the bedroom floors of the summer cottage.

Patchwork has periodical revivals, but even then it is never entirely out of fashion. Many women today hoard scraps of silk for this purpose as their mothers, grandmothers and great-grandmothers did before them.

It is possible to keep pieces of certain colors for certain quilts, thus using blue and white for one room or pink and white for another. Appliques cut from flowered cretonnes are charming on dimity bedspreads. In the time of our grandmothers the flowers and leaves had to be laboriously cut out of colored patches, then be fitted together with infinitesimal stitches. The writer possesses a wonderful bedspread with red poppies and green leaves and stems, worked into a border all the way round the spread.

Squares of patchwork were the first sewing put into the hands of tiny maidens in those days and served as a daily "stint" for years to come.

Casters on the Table.

Many weary steps can be saved by providing the kitchen table with casters so that it can be easily moved from place to place. In dishwashing it may be moved near the sink and cupboard; in fruit canning, near the stove, and so on.

SLIPPER FANCIES.

Eccentric Ideas In Dancing Shoes For the Smart Woman's Exploitation.

The season brings to light among other eccentricities the dancing shoe of patent leather with a series of crossed straps, on one set of which appears a tiny watch. The shoe has the usual buckle, the watch being located just on the ankle.

Sandals are worn by women who go in for freakish fashions. In Paris, where they have been introduced, they are worn with flesh colored pink stockings, which have special compartments for the toes, so that the effect is really quite startling. A few daring women who have pretty feet have appeared with sandals and minus hosiery.

NEW DANCING FOOTWEAR.

Suede and satin slippers decorated with cubist patterns are also new and modish.

SUMMER ACCIDENTS AND HOW TO TREAT THEM.

Sunstroke.—Remove to a shady place. Lay the patient down, head level with body, and loosen tight clothing. Pour cold water on head and face. Rub the body with a piece of ice. In prostration from sunstroke apply heat to the hands and feet.

Cramps.—There is only one thing for a swimmer taken with cramps when out of his depth to do—try to lie on his back and float until aid comes. The same is true of a poor swimmer caught by an undertow. If he can lie still and float he will come to the surface in a few seconds.

Stiffness.—When returning from a long walk or row rub down briskly with alcohol. A cold bath is often effective, but it should always be followed by a good rubdown. Stiffness will soon pass away if you disregard it and keep on at the exercise.

Chills.—If you get a chill through being wet or through sitting in a cold place when very hot with exertion, put the feet into a pail of water as hot as can be borne in which a handful of mustard has been dissolved. Go to bed under a liberal supply of blankets and take a hot drink, lemonade or Jamaica rum being the best.

Stings and Bites.—Whether of bees, wasps, hornets, centipedes, spiders, tarantulas or any insects the treatment is the same. Apply hartshorn (ammonia) or table salt to the stung spot. Wash mosquito bites with a strong solution of bicarbonate of soda. Don't scratch, no matter how they itch.

Poison Ivy.—Bathe the affected parts in a strong solution of bicarbonate of soda. Poison ivy is one of the most mysterious of affections. One person may handle the leaves with impunity, while another will break out in sores after merely passing near to where it is growing.

Prickly Heat.—Bathe in a strong solution of bicarbonate of soda (ordinary baking soda); take sirup of squills internally and avoid heating food. It is well to dust the parts affected with any simple powder, such as borated talcum.

Sunburn.—To prevent soreness from sunburn bathe the parts that have been exposed with glycerin and elderflower water. To cure sunburn bathe the affected parts with an emulsion of linseed oil and lime water (caron oil), which any druggist can supply.

RIPPLES THAT SPARKLE RIGHT GAYLY

Sympathy.

"This here boy," said the proud mother to a neighbor, "do certainly grow more like his father every day."

And the neighbor, knowing the father, inquired anxiously:

"Do he, now? And 'ave you tried heverything?"

Tired, but Strong.

"Wait up for the master tonight, John. If he is very tired help him into bed."

"Yes, ma'am, but hadn't Thomas better stay up to help? 'Cause when master's tired he's awfully strong."

Things Men Stand For.

"Have you any useless regrets—any vain longings about the past, dear?" asked the wife.

"Yes. I'd like to be able to live my past life over again," answered the husband.

"I'm surprised at you, Pete. Haven't you blundered enough as it is?"

The Crowning Need.

"How's your wife?"

"She's having constant trouble with her head."

"Can't the doctor help her?"

"No—nobody but the milliner."

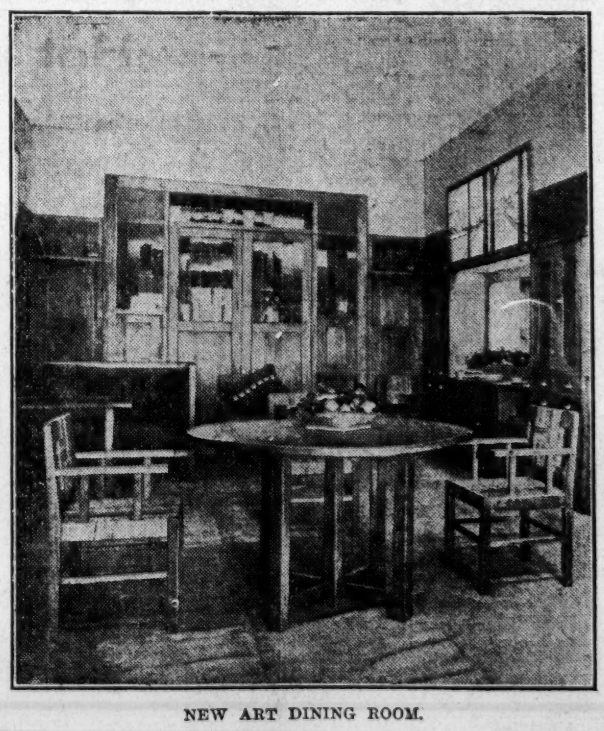
Dining Room In Attractive Style



NEW ART DINING ROOM.

VERY modern is the dining room pictured here. It is an interior designed by a famous French decorator. The alcove, in which the fireplace is set, affords space for chimney seats. Above these runs a narrow bookshelf. Squares of stained glass that let in daylight are placed above the shelf. The wall is covered with plain dark paper to the height of the picture rod. Above that is a simple paneled border of plain paper outlined with roses. The sideboard and table in oak are designed on new and attractive lines.

EVERY MORNING.

A Little Crystal of Thought For Every Day In the Week.

Sunday.—Most of us are rather inclined to criticise sermons. We forget that we, too, are preaching—by our speech and actions—and that people who live in glass houses should be very careful how they throw stones.

Monday.—Religion is worth having only if it makes us honestly endeavor to treat others as in similar circumstances we should like to be treated.

Tuesday.—A mistake made of one's own sometimes does more for one than a success one owes to somebody else.

Wednesday.—Happiness does not consist in doing what we like, but in liking what we do.

Thursday.—Are you doing your work well, even though it may be rather uninteresting? To do uninteresting work well is the very best preparation for doing interesting work equally well if and when it happens to come your way.

Friday.—The only person you have a right to judge and condemn is yourself, and if we keep a sharp eye on ourselves we shall probably find so many things needing to be remedied that we shall have no time to go about passing judgment on our neighbors.

Saturday.—"Truth," said Edward Thring, "is doing your best—always. The 'truth' we put into our work is precisely that for which no one can pay us."

A Daisy Party.

For the young folks a flower party makes a charming spring entertainment. If the daisy is chosen as the flower write the invitations on daisies cut from white cardboard, with a tiny photograph of the young hostess in the center. Each girl should wear a white dress and yellow sash. When the guests arrive give each a piece of yellow crape paper and some white daisies out of which to make hats. The favor should be a daisy pin. A prize should be given to the girl making the prettiest daisy chain. Refreshments may be yellow ice and daisy cookies.

Cleaning Varnished Paper.

The varnished wallpaper in a kitchen gets very dirty. When cleaning time comes clean in the following way:

Add two tablespoonfuls of ammonia to half a pailful of water and wash the walls down with a flannel dipped in this. Then take half a pailful of clean, fresh water, add to it two tablespoonfuls of turpentine and wash the walls a second time with this, wiping as dry as possible afterward. This gives the paper a nice polish.

An Old Favorite

SLAVES

MEN, whose boast it is that ye
Come of fathers brave and free,
If there breathe on earth a slave,
Are ye truly free and brave?
If ye do not feel the chain
When it works a brother's pain
Are ye not base slaves indeed,
Slaves unworthy to be freed?
Is true freedom but to break
Fetters for our own dear sake
And with leathern hearts forget
That we owe mankind a debt?
No; true freedom is to share
All the chains our brothers wear
And with heart and hand to be
Earnest to make others free.
They are slaves who fear to speak
For the fallen and the weak;
They are slaves who will not choose
Hatred, scoffing and abuse
Rather than to silence shrink
From the truth they needs must think;
They are slaves who dare not be
In the right with two or three.

—James Russell Lowell.

NEW MOTOR BONNETS.

Some of the new motor bonnets are charming. One in gray tagal straw of the poke shape is lined with gray lace and trimmed with a swathing and long veil of gray chiffon, a true lovers' knot of emerald green velvet and a wee posy of pink rosebuds. Another pretty and comfortable bonnet is in nut brown tagal, with a soft crown of brown silk striped with deep coral and trimmed with a brown silk bow at one side.

CREAMED APPLE SAUCE.

Take one quart of cold apple sauce, a cupful of powdered sugar, one cupful of rich milk, or, if possible, cream, whites of two eggs well frothed. Mix sugar and cream until thoroughly dissolved, then add whites and pour over the cold apple sauce.

Today's Short Story

All For Love

CLARENCE TREVOR and I both occupied positions in the postoffice. Clarence was twenty-eight and I was twenty. From our first meeting I loved him.

Then came reports of money being taken from letters passing through our postoffice. Meanwhile Clarence Trevor was advanced and occupied a private office. One day I went to this office to ask a question concerning my department. There was no one in the room. On the table lay a letter and its envelope. The latter had been torn open, and the former had been taken out. On the desk also was a twenty dollar bill. The envelope was not addressed to Trevor.

I trembled. Clarence Trevor, the man I secretly worshiped, was a thief. But what could have induced him to leave the evidence of his guilt in this exposed position? I heard a step in the corridor. In an instant I had clutched the letter, the envelope and the bill and thrust them in my pocket. The person in the hall entered.

"Come with me," he said.

"What for?"

"I came to arrest every one in these offices. You are the only one I can find. All the rest are out."

He took me down to the postmaster's office, where I was searched and a decoy letter with the bill it contained found in my pocket.

Then came a mental struggle. Should I accuse the man in whose room I had found the decoy? Would I be able to screen myself by doing so? With the faith of a woman who loves I believed that there must be extenuating circumstances. I would not accuse him.

My people were broken hearted over my disgrace.

Clarence Trevor attended the trial. I watched him closely. Under a calm exterior I could see signs of great mental anxiety. When I was asked to plead I said, "Guilty," and looked at Trevor. He turned away, with a shudder, and left the courtroom.

The day before I was to have been taken to the state prison Trevor came to see me. His agony was terrible, but he concealed it from all but me.

"You have wrecked my life," he said.

"I can understand your feelings. You think you suffer more than if I had acted differently."

"How could you, whom I marked for a true woman, be a"—

"Thief? Don't spare the word. I am content to bear it."

"Half a day later and there might have been even more between us—if that could be. It was my intention on the evening of your arrest to have asked you to be my wife."

"What? With the sin on your shoulders?"

"What sin?"

"The sin for which I suffer."

He looked at me with a blank stare.

"What does this mean?" he asked.

In a twinkling I understood what he could not understand. He was not guilty. He did not know that I was sacrificing myself for him. I sank down on a prison stool and, leaning my head against the wall, gasped:

"Thank God!"

"This is maddening! For heaven's sake, explain!"

"On the day of my arrest I went to your office. You were not there. I found the decoy on the desk. Some one was coming. I seized it and put it in my pocket."

My head swam, and for a moment I lost sight of everything. Then he was kneeling at my feet, looking up at me with an expression I shall not attempt to describe.

I received his avowal of love, his prayers that I would be his wife.

How he darted away to the lawyers; how there was a "stay," followed by an order for a new trial, and I was taken out on bail, are matters which seemed to me to follow one another rapidly, but were slow enough for Clarence. The reason for all this was kept a secret, though it was stated that new evidence would be brought out at the next trial.

Several months passed and we were getting discouraged when one day Clarence came to me and, quivering with excitement, cried:

"We've got him!"

The man occupying the next office had been shadowed and his guilt established. In the end he confessed that, getting wind of suspicion, he had had only time to leave the decoy on Clarence's desk and get away before I entered.

THE CHILDREN'S CORNER

Boyhood Lore.

In order to catch a good string of fish in Virginia or Vermont, or anywhere else for that matter, it is only necessary to bait the hook with a nice, wriggly angleworm, make a wish and expectorate on the unfortunate bait and place the line in the water. Fish will respond almost immediately.

Snake feeders (dragon flies) along streams or in marshes indicate to all boys the imminence of snakes. All boys take warning upon seeing this insect and give the snake which it is attending a wide berth. Nobody has ever seen a snake feeder arranging the snake's lunch, but it is known to be positively true that the insect is the snake's chef.

Musical Monkeys.

A learned professor has been studying the effect of music upon the animals at the Paris zoo. He found the monkeys quite partial to ragtime, especially if it is played on violin or flute, and they stopped eating or scratching or jumping about to listen. Elephants and rhinoceroses took no notice of either ragtime or better things, but the hippopotamus put his head out of the water and listened as if he were enjoying it, a waltz by the famous composer Offenbach.

This is the tale of an elk,
Scarce any tale at all—
But how can you have a long tale
When the tail of an elk is small?

Simple Arithmetic.

A fair division makes two happy little negroes.

CRESCENT BAGS.

Have you seen the bag mounted on a crescent shaped frame? When this bag is opened the two crescents open in such a way that they make a whole circle. Such a bag, the interior of which can be seen so easily, is a delight to the woman who is shopping and keeps samples and lists of things to buy in her bag. These bags are made of leather and silk and velvet.

Finger Stains.

To remove from the fingers all stains made by ink, preparing vegetables, cleaning, etc., keep in a covered glass a solution of tartaric acid—a heaping teaspoonful of acid to half a glassful of water. After washing the hands dip the fingers in the acid and when the stain is gone rinse in clear water. This will also tend to keep the skin soft and the nails in good condition.

COTTON MARKET VERY ACTIVE

Showed Continued Strength With All Positions Making New High Marks for Movement.

New York, May 28.—The cotton market was very active again today and showed continued strength with all positions making new high marks for the movement. Realizing caused reactions during the afternoon, but the final tone of the market was steady with old crop deliveries showing net gains of from 22 to 33 points, while the new crop was net four points higher to three points lower. There was some irregularity at the start. The opening was firm at unchanged prices to an advance of 12 points on over-night buying orders and other support encouraged by the firmness of the cables on old crop positions, and wet weather advices from the Southwest. Houses with Liverpool connections were buyers of near months, but sold the new crop rather freely and there was also a good deal of local and Southern realizing against the later deliveries.

This sent new crop positions two or three points under last night's final figures during the early trading and there was quite a bit of reactionary talk around the ring. The near months, however, showed continued firmness and the whole market firmed up during the middle of the morning. The advance was encouraged by the publication of a private crop report making the average condition only 73.9 per cent, and indicating a decrease of 7-10 of 1 per cent in acreage.

The detailed weather reports for the Western belt also contributed to the bullishness of sentiment and the old crop positions sold 24 to 34 points net higher during the afternoon while the crop at one time showed net gains of from 10 to 12 points.

Realizing became more active later, while buying seemed to be checked to some extent by reports of showers in Louisiana and Mississippi. New crop positions sold off several points in consequence. Old crop reactions were limited so far as July and August were concerned, although May lost ten points of its advance. Futures closed steady.

RIGHTS OF "DIVINE HEALER."

Will be Tested in the Courts, Say Wilson Officials.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wilson, N. C., May 28.—Wilson officials are determined to test the legal right of the so-called negro divine healer—"Dr." W. F. Edwards. The healer was bound over to the county court yesterday on the charge of practicing medicine without a license. This arrangement was in order that the negro could be tried by a jury.

He is already under sentence in other cases and has appealed. In sending the case to the court for trial, Mayor Dickinson forbid the negro practicing his profession pending the hearing. Edwards has been here for two months and has almost completely demoralized a certain element of the negro population.

Washington, May 28.—A favorable report on the bill to prohibit the importation of convict-made goods was ordered today by the Senate manufactures committee. Senators from cotton growing States will contest the passage of the bill as much of the cotton bagging used is in part the product of foreign convict labor.

CLASH AT KINSTON.

Editor and Linotype Operator Come to Blows.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., May 28.—H. Galt Braxton, editor of the Kinston Free Press, and Henderson Mabe, a linotype operator until recently employed on the paper, engaged in an affray in front of the office yesterday following a dispute about tools which the typesetter claimed he had left in the shop. Mabe, a husky, athletic man, invited Braxton, much slighter, to the street. Braxton went, with a board. Mabe afterward had Braxton arrested, charged with assault with a deadly weapon. The magistrate amended the warrant and tried both for affray.

MISS LOUISE NORA TAYLOR PASSES AWAY IN RALEIGH.

Gave to North Carolina Music for "The Old North State."

Raleigh, N. C., May 28.—Miss Louise Nora Taylor, who gave to North Carolina the music for the State hymn "The Old North State," died today at her home in this city at the age of 91.

When a girl of 13 years, Miss Taylor heard the music at a concert and was playing the tune the next morning when her uncle, Judge William Gaston, conceived the idea of a State hymn. He composed the words.

The Human Banknote.

"A poor girl," said a New York society woman, "married an aged millionaire.

"'Oh, how could you do it?' a friend asked her. 'Such an old fellow too!'

"'My dear,' the young bride replied, 'if you were starving and somebody gave you an enormous banknote—a banknote for a million—would you bother to look at the date?'"

IDLE DRIFT IN STOCKS

Little Doing in Market Yesterday. Wilson's Address Caused a Slight Reaction.

New York, May 28.—The stock market drifted along in idle and futile fashion again today. The Mexican situation, the outcome of Missouri Pacific's entanglements and foreign conditions failed to exercise more than passing influence.

Late in the session President Wilson's address to the Illinois manufacturers avowing his intention to carry out his anti-trust programme caused some slight reaction, but net changes in the more important issues, United States Steel excepted, were hardly noteworthy. In the special group the movement was distinctly irregular, General Motors lost much of its recent gain, while Wells Fargo gained five points.

London was a seller of our securities. Advices from Paris pointed to a clarification of financial conditions. Time money for the larger maturities stiffened, but the shorter dates and call loans were unchanged.

The only feature of the bond division was the strength of the Gould issues. Total sales of bonds, par value, $1,505,000. United States coupon 3s gained 1-2 on a single sale, but prices otherwise were unchanged on call.

Marshall, Vice President of the United States, returned to Washington today after delivering a brief address to members of the graduating class at Agnes Scott college near here. He made the principal address in connection with that event last night.

Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia, also spoke at the graduation exercises today.

WEATHER MAN PROMISES LOWER TEMPERATURE TODAY

Eastern Cities Suffer from Heat—Thunder Storms for Friday.

Washington, May 27.—A wave of mid-summer heat, accompanied by enervating humidity over the Atlantic Ctates, the Ohio and the Mississippi valleys today caused suffering in many cities. Richmond, Va., with a temperature of 96 degrees, was the only place where the mercury established a new record.

Weather experts tonight promised slightly cooler weather for the East during the remainder of the week, but the indications are that no real relief will come until Friday, when a disturbance from the Northwest may bring general thunder showers.

GENERAL EXECUTION OF FEDERAL OFFICERS

Thirty-Five Captured at Tepic Are Put to Death

Appeal of General Howard in the Name of Humanity of No Avail —Lives of Garrison Were Saved by the Appeal.

Nogales, Ariz., May 28.—Thirty-five Federal officers captured by the Constitutionalists at Tepic were executed May 24, according to a message received here today from Gen. Alvaro Obregon, the Constitutionalist commander.

General Obregon's message says Rear Admiral Howard, American naval commander on the Pacific coast, telegraphed to the German consul at Tepic to intercede for the lives of the Federals "for the sake of humanity" but Obregon answered that the execution was necessary to prevent the officers making trouble in the future.

The Federals were taken to the cemetery and shot in squads.

General Obregon's reply to the offer of intercession said:

"When the assassin, Huerta, murdered Madero the nations hastened to recognize his government and humanity was forgotten. Now that punishment is about to overtake Huerta and his minors, it is not time to cry 'humanity.'"

Soldiers of the Tepic garrison, for whose lives the American admiral also interceded, were patroled.

Women Killed in Fight.

Amargos, Coahuila, May 28. (By courier via El Paso, May 28.)—Thirty-five women camp followers lost their lives with 300 Federal soldiers in the battle of Paredon it was learned today. Fifty-seven Federal officers were executed after the battle.

Reports of the execution of General Munoz, nephew of ex-President Porfiro Diaz; General Orzono and nine colonels seem well established. The men shot, it was said, reiterated their loyalty to the Huerta government and gave their lives rather than violate their oath of allegiance.

Twelve members of a Federal military band were shot by Constitutionalist soldiers without sanction of their officers.

General Alvarez, one of the Federal commanders, met his death in an unusual manner. After defeat had become certain, he crawled into a water tank of the train. He was killed when two hand grenades were thrown into the tank.

Another Federal officer, Col. Ernest Iano Hernandez, shot himself through the head. General IIiGlulalrldiiolo, thoug hwounded, escaped. The wounded Federals were taken in charge by Villa's hospital corps and still are alive. Among them is a lieutenant colonel, several majors and captains. In the past such officers have not been spard.

VOTES IN THIRD ARE NOT YET TABULATED

Count Finished at Midnight, Committee Retires

Will Meet Again This Morning to Tabulate and Add Ballots— May Reconsider Amendment to Rules—Thomas or Hood.

(By Long Distance Telephone.)

Goldsboro, N. C., May 29—The Democratic executive committee of the Third Congressional district completed the work of counting and recording the votes cast in the recent preferential primary at midnight, and immediately adjourned until morning, without making the necessary tabulations and adding the figures to ascertain who was nominated.

The last county to be checked was Craven, and the counting of the ballots cast in that county dropped Hon. Geo. E. Hood back somewhat, and gave Hon. Chas. R. Thomas a slight gain. However, the indications are that Hood will be found in the lead when the votes are tabulated and added. Certainly it will be either he or Thomas. The tabulation will be made today.

May Reconsider Amendment.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Goldsboro, N. C., May 28.—At 11:30 tonight the Third Congressional district Democratic executive committee are counting on the last county, Hood and Thomas are leading the ticket and the indications are that Hood will have a lead over Thomas of about seven or eight hundred votes.

The committee will hold their final meeting tomorrow, at which time it is expected they will reconsider the amendment to the rules under which the primary was held requiring the candidate receiving the nomination to have a majority of the votes in the district instead of a majority of the votes cast, as the rules read when the primary was held.

If the amendment which was passed yesterday by a committee vote of five to four is persisted in another primary will be necessary.

been lost at sea, according to the belief expressed today by her owners in this city, the Luckenbach Steamship Company. The vessel left Tampa, Fla., on May 15th, for Baltimore and should have been there by the 21st. Wreckage sighted today off the South Carolina coast gave evidence of a disaster, and while the agents here could not identify the drifting material as from their boat, they were inclined to think it was.

The Luckenbach was commanded by Captain A. K. Webb, of Tampa. Most of her crew came from Baltimore.

Her cargo consisted mainly of phosphate rock.

WANTS COLLEGE NAMED FOR FLORA MACDONALD

give? And who is there with Scottish blood in his veins—no matter whether his forbears fought with the Tories, or with the Whigs—who among you does not lift his head in prouder recognition at the memory of those sons of chivalry who, like Flora Macdonald herself, served devotedly the House of Stuart in Scotland and the House of Hanover in America, and lost for both?"

Dr. Macdonald then traced the history of the Macdonalds after they emigrated to Nova Scotia in Canada, using the incident to show how Canada is united by indissoluble ties to the United States. But the things that unite these two countries, he declared, are not merely those of common blood but there also the stronger ties of civilization, a common history and a common international interest. Continuing he showed how they are peopled with the same races and are actuated by a common impulse. He contrasted their history in the following vivid language:

The American Lesson.

"I put it to you: What is the one supreme lesson taught in the history of the United States? It is not revolution. Were that all, then this Republic would be on a level with Latin republics between the Rio Grande and the South Pole. Revolution has been the chief feature in their history. In this Republic revolution was but an incident. The distinguishing mark has been self-government. The supreme lesson taught themselves, taught to Britain, taught to the world, by these American colonies was that in the English-speaking world and among the colonies of the Anglo-Saxon breed and community that cherishes national aspirations and is fit for national autonomy must be given the rights and responsibilities of national self-government. That is the world lesson of American history. That is the world meaning of the Declaration of Independence. It was not so much independence; it was self-government.

The Lesson From Canada.

"Canada's history does not contradict the Declaration of Independence; it confirms it. When in the nineteenth century the time came for Canada to set up house the lesson of the American Revolution had not to be taught. The Fathers of Canadian Confederation began where the Fathers of American Independence left off. The British North America act granting that charter British statesnadian provinces and is the charter of Canada's national autonomy. In granting trat charter British statesmen thought it meant national separation for Canada. Beaconsfield thought so, and so thought Gladstone. But neither of them saw any remedy. Canada demanded it, and, even though it might mean separation, it had to be granted. The lesson of the American colonies had to be taught Britain but once. No other mother of colonies has even yet learned that lesson."

Continuing Dr. Macdonald discussed Canada's relations to the Great Britain which he characterized as an alliance and not as an empire. Taking up next the common spirit of loyalty to country and home which characterizes all true Scotchmen, Dr. Macdonald said:

Division Only in Form.

"It may be that in choosing me to be your president you thought not of the large problems of international relations, but of those more intimate and more mystic bonds which, through the generations and the world round, hold together all those of the Scottish blood. After Culloden, your ancestors and mine may have crossed the Atlantic in the same sailing vessel, and after the Revolution their descendants may have been separated by the widness of the international boundary and the animosities war always creates. But, once more, it is true—

'That, after Last, returns the First, and though you, through the generations, may have lost the Scotish accent from the voice, you have not lost the Scottish pride from the heart or the Scottish passion from the blood.
Though a wide compass round be fetched'

"Men may say that here in North Carolina the Scottish Gael were divided in their politics and in their patriotism. Some of them at Liberty Point in 1775 stood with the Whigs and demanded the rights of self-government; and in 1776 others of them marched out with the Tories to fight for the King. That outward division was only in external form. In name and fame, in spirit and in purpose, they still were one."

On Common Ground.

Dr. Macdonald exhorted his hearers to remain true to the rich heritage of sacrifice and reverence and unsullied honor which comes down from the past. Extremely gratifying to him he said was a reverent memory, a sacred affection for the name and fame of Flora Macdonald, who lived for five years in this State. He showed that high place she occupies in history and described the handsome marble statue on Castle Hill in Inverness, the capital of the Scottish Highlands. He suggested that it would be a splendid thing to erect a statue to her memory in Fayetteville.

Here in America, he declared, those of the Scottish race would be untrue to the charge committed to them by history if they failed to commemorate her memory. And in commemorating her memory Canada and all America, he said, would be glad to join hands. And the rest of North Carolina has a right to look to the leadership of the Scottish Society of America. During the past year he stated that he had been trying to fulfill the obligation resting upon him to find a way to give the Scottish people of America an opportunity to perpetuate her memory. After offering to give $10,000 provided the trustees of the Southern Presbyterian college would raise $100,000 he outlined his plan as follows:

A Worthy Memorial.

"The most worthy memorial of Flora Macdonald would be an educational institution that would give to the girls and young women of these Southern Scottish communities the opportunities and privileges which Sir Alexander Macdonald gave to Flora herself when he sent her three years to college in Edinburgh. That college training was an important factor in the discipline of her character and in the culture and loftiness of her life. As president of this Scottish Society I propose that similar opportunities be afforded hundreds of girls throughout these States to which Scotland gave so many of the best of her people, and that in this proposal the name of Flora Macdonald be commemorated.

"A short time ago I learned that the trustees of the college at Red Springs were considering a change of name for their institution. I found there new buildings worth $200,000, and fine grounds of twenty-two acres, and all the equipment needed for superior educational service. I found an enrollment of more than 250 students, and a staff of teachers and officers worthy of a great cause. I found, too, the genuine love of education, the true democracy of spirit and the noble ideals of service which become a college eighty per cent. of whose students boast of Scottish ancestry and blood. I ventured to suggest that the Southern Presbyterian College and Conservatory of Music at Red Springs, with its fine educational record and its nobly democratic spirit, there in the very heart of this historic Scottish community, become a memorial, its work adequately endowed and its name changed to 'The Flora Macdonald College.'" strued as permitting General Huerta to choose his successor but the fact that those who will comprise the new provisional government would be elected in advance and approved by the United States in the opinion of some would prevent that impression from being widely created.

That there should be a governing body of five individuals is virtually settled. On this group would devolve the responsibility of carrying out the program adopted here. This would include arrangements for an election for President, Vice President and the members of Congress. The provisional government will be expected to decide on the selection of governors of States where vacancies now occur, and arrange for the conduct of gubernatorial elections.

The whole purpose of the mediation is to impose on the group, governing body, or junta an obligation to carry out the program adopted here. Though one of the group probably will be called provisional President and the others members of his cabinet, there will be a tacit understanding that these men will have an equal voice in the government's operation. An agreement is expected to be reached to the effect that no changes will occur in the group until the elections have been held. Questions of personnel are absorbing the attention of all.

The Washington administration has a list of names suggested and will designate a number, any one of whom would be accorded recognition if determined on for provisional President.

Indications point to a full conference of the delegates and mediators tomorrow and a formal public statement from the mediators is not unlikely.

record today on this important subject."

The resolution was adopted.

Revive Family Worship.

Another resolution adopted called on the pastors and churches to take steps to revive family worship.

The work of the special committee on white slave traffic was adopted without discussion.

Doubt was expressed in the report of the advisability of teaching sex hygiene in the public schools and parents were urged to inform their children personally of the truths of life.

An overture seeking to allow women to serve as ruling elders was discouraged by the assembly, which sustained the committee on bills and overtures in its recommendation that no action be taken.

A recommendation that where ministers of the Presbyterian church are sued for divorce the local Presbytery should investigate the case and spread its report in the records of the Presbytery, was approved and sent to the various Presbyteries for a referendum vote.

STILL ON WITTE CASE.

Superior Court Engaged With $50,000 Damage Suit.

Superior Court was engaged all day yesterday in the trial of the case of Sarah C. Witte, administratrix, against the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad and Schloss-Bear-Davis Company, an action for $50,000 alleged damages for the death of her father, killed some months ago by a runaway team, said to have been frightened by an engine of the railroad company.

Both sides finished the taking of evidence yesterday, and arguments were begun yesterday afternoon. The first speech was made by Geo. B. Elliott, Esq., for the Coast Line, and he was followed by ex-Judge E. K. Bryan, for the plaintiff. Judge Bryan did not finish his argument, and will resume it this morning. He will be followed by Thos. W. Davis, Esq., for the Coast Line, and Herbert McClammy, Esq., for Schloss-Bear-Davis Company.

An alias summons was issued yesterday in the case of Lawrence W. Mason against Owen Alderman. Judgment for non suit was entered in the case of H. L. Vollers against A. F. Ellers and others. A motion to dismiss for failure to file was made in the case of A. P. Whitehead, administration, and was disallowed. The defendant excepted.

—Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure and Messrs. W. A. McGirt, M. G. Sanders, W. H. Blair and H. J. MacMillan returned last night from Fayetteville, where they attended the Scottish society meeting.
